Largest Pressure Tank In World To Be Erected Here

FOUR GIANT HOLDERS TO STORE FUEL

Southern Counties Gas Co., Announces Work Expected to Start at Once TO COST $194,000

Contracts for Big Storage Containers Let to Western Pipe and Steel Co.

THE LARGEST high pressure storage station in the world for either natural or manufactured gas will be located in Santa Ana with the completion of four high pressure holders to be erected here by Southern Counties Gas company, at once, according to an announcement today by District Manager C. E. Rutledge.

Each of the new holders will have a capacity of 500,000 cubic feet. Each will be 50 feet in diameter and 100 feet high. Steel plates more than an inch thick are to be used in the construction of the new holders.

With the addition of 2,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas storage which the new holders will provide, the Santa Ana station will then have a total storage capacity of 3,150,000 cubic feet, practically all of which is of the high pressure type. This is a world's record for high pressure stations, according to gas utility statistics.

Contracts for the new holders have been let to the Western Pipe and Steel corporation. The new addition to the holder station including auxiliary equipment and land recently purchased by the gas company between Cedar and Evergreen streets, and Walnut and Pine, represent a capital expenditure amounting to approximately $194,000. The total investment of the company in storage equipment alone for the local station will then exceed $366,000.

"The addition of these four new holders of the most modern type for our service in Orange county and the establishment here as complete as we can obtain, for the communities which we serve," said Manager Rutledge. "We are of the opinion, based on a careful survey of conditions here, that this district will have a substantial growth in the next five years, greater even than the growth in the past. We are planning and building now to provide for this future growth. A number of additional holders of the same modern type that we are building here are to be constructed by the company this year at various points on the system which runs from San Clemente in the south, to Santa Barbara in the north."

GRAF ZEPPELIN LANDS SAFELY IN TEST TRIP

Arrives at Seville, Spain, and Is Greeted by Big Crowd on Field

SEVILLE, Spain, April 16.—(UP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, making a test flight in preparation for its trip to Brazil and the United States in May, arrived today at 1:10 p. m.

The royal family and a great crowd, which had been arriving here for two days, greeted the big dirigible, which will use Seville as its terminal for the south Atlantic flight.

King Alfonso and the royal family had been provided with special boxes at the air field where the dirigible's landing crew had been mobilized. More than 30,000 persons paid for tickets to the field to witness the landing and as many more were attracted here by the Graf Zeppelin's trip which was of special interest because officials hope to make Seville a permanent terminal for Atlantic flights.

The dirigible arrived slightly ahead of schedule despite unfavorable weather encountered on the greater part of its flight from Friedrichshafen, Captain Ernest Lehmann, in command of the big ship, had not expected to reach Seville before 2 p. m. The flight required approximately 23 hours, the dirigible having flown through heavy rains over France. It struck better weather as it passed the bay of Biscay, over Lisbon and on down the coast to Seville.

INDIANS PREPARE FOR EASTER RITES

BARRIO PASCAU, Ariz., April 16.—(UP)—The dancing braves of this little Yaqui Indian village today donned the grotesque masks and strange costumes in which they will sway through ancient tribal Easter rites for the next five days.

Pantages Once Again Denied His Freedom

Judge Fricke, Who Sentenced Him Finds No Reason for Release

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—(UP)—The third attempt of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater owner, to gain release from jail on bail pending the result of his appeal to conviction for assaulting 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, failed here today.

Superior Judge Charles Fricke, who sentenced Pantages to serve from one to 50 years in San Quentin after a jury found him guilty, refused the motion for temporary freedom.

The jurist, after hearing a number of witnesses, declared he found no circumstances to warrant the release of the showman.

Defense attorneys and witnesses argued that Pantages was critically ill with heart trouble and that continued incarceration would result in death.

KARACHI, India, April 16.—(UP)—Indian troops were added to police defenses here today to end rioting which broke out during the trial of leaders of the National Congress for violation of the salt laws.

SEVEN MORE IN JULIAN FIASCO ARE INDICTED

Many True Bills Returned By Grand Jury Probing Into Case Today

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—(UP)—Jack Friedlander, former state corporation commissioner, and Charles Crawford, prominent local politician, were charged today with a part in the failure of the $100,000 Julian Petroleum corporation.

With S. C. Lewis, former president of Julian, and four John Does, they were named in indictments returned by the grand jury alleging conspiracy to commit bribery.

The true bills were based on testimony of J. H. Roth, broker and former associate of C. C. Julian, promoter of the company which bore his name.

Roth said that $250,000 changed hands when Lewis and Crawford bartered stock selling permits up and down Spring street, the Los Angeles financial center.

Some of the amount, contributed by lead brokers, found its way to Friedlander, it was asserted.

Friedlander and Crawford frequently have been mentioned in the renewed Julian investigation which has led to more than 60 indictments on a wide variety of charges.

Laguna Beach Business Men Make Request

Declare Merchants of Long Beach Attempting to "Grab" Business

ASSERTING that Long Beach merchants are "grabbing" a lot of business from the coast section of Orange county, and pointing out that Long Beach is energetically pushing for patronage from residents of the beach districts, the Laguna Beach Realty board yesterday urged, by communication, that the supervisors take some action that would lead to extension of South Main street, Santa Ana, to coast boulevard.

The communication intimated that opening of the highway would make it more convenient for beach residents to get to the interior cities of the county. The communication was filed, without comment by members of the board.

Anticipating drilling operations by the Standard Oil company on an island in Newport bay, near Coney Island, the board directed Nat. H. Neff, superintendent of county highways, to secure easements for a road to the island and to prepare plans and specifications for the road. About three feet of road must be built to connect the island with the county road.

The clerk was directed to advertise the sale of Garden Grove Union high school bonds, amounting to $25,000. Bids will be opened on May 13, 1930.

An application was received from A. L. Barnett, Anaheim, for appointment to the Orange county squad of the state motorcycle patrol.

DECIDES CASE

Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, of Los Angeles, who occupied the bench in superior court here during the libel trial of Charles Carrillo against the Register and J. F. Burke, which resulted in complete exoneration for the defendants yesterday, when the court granted a motion for judgment for the defendants immediately following the close of the plaintiff's case.

PLANE WITHOUT PILOT WILL BE GIVEN TRYOUT

Will Be Steered By Robot in Army Air Maneuvers at Mather Field

MATHER FIELD, SACRAMENTO, April 16.—(UP)—An airplane without a pilot, steered by a robot or "mechanical man" is to be used by the United States army air corps in its field maneuvers here this week.

This information was announced at headquarters of the provisional wing today. The robot, directed by radio from the ground or from another plane; has been placed in one of the giant Curtiss Condor bombing ships, largest of Uncle Sam's fighting planes.

The test of the pilotless plane will be made against the imaginary "enemy" Friday. It was planned. Although a pilot will accompany the ship on the start of the flight, he will climb out of the cockpit onto a wing, while newspaper camera men in adjoining planes take pictures of the robot in action.

MOTION OF DEFENSE FOR JUDGMENT ON EVIDENCE OF PLAINTIFF GRANTED

Newspaper And Its Editor Exonerated Fully And Fairly By Decision Of Judge Ruben Schmidt

NO TESTIMONY BY DEFENSE

EXONERATED—fully and fairly. That is the position today of The Register and its editor, J. F. Burke, in relation to the libel suit of Charles Carrillo, Orange county court interpreter, who sued for damages following publication in The Register last fall of a series of articles concerning charges that were filed against the interpreter with the county board of supervisors and an investigation that was made by The Register and the supervisors.

Although the decision was not unexpected by those familiar with all the facts, who anticipated that when the court trial was complete the verdict would be for the defendants, the case blew up with dramatic swiftness at 3:49 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, of Los Angeles, who occupied the bench during the trial, granted a motion from chief defense counsel W. J. Clark, for judgment on the evidence that was in the records at the close of the presentation of the plaintiff's case.

This came on the heels of testimony from J. F. Burke, one of the defendants, who was the last witness called by the prosecution, and before the defendants put on a single witness or attempted to start their defense. The defendants were thus not required to prove the truth of their publications or the charges made against Carrillo before the board of supervisors, and of which the supervisors cleared the county employee in a hearing which they conducted in the matter. The plaintiff made no attempt to disprove the truth of the publications, other than the statements of the complaining witness, Carrillo, who asserted that they were false.

Clark makes the motion for judgment after Attorney William Menton, chief counsel for the plaintiff, rested his case at 3:35 o'clock. In support of his motion Clark read from a decision of the state supreme court holding that the plaintiff, in a case where the party alleged to be libeled is a public official, must prove malice. Upon completion of the reading of the citation and some argument from Menton, Judge Schmidt said, "There is no question in the court's mind that qualified privilege enters into this case under the provisions of the civil code. In other words the burden of proving malice is upon the plaintiff in this type of action."

Judge Schmidt also cited a ruling from another case, which he characterized as coming closer to the case under consideration than any other decision in the state, and stated that he was bound by the rulings of the supreme court.

John Martell, associated with Menton as the plaintiff's counsel, then argued that nine of the exhibits consisting of articles published in the Register in connection with the Carrillo case.

CHARGES MADE BY REGISTER NOT DISPUTED

Judge Exonerates Paper on Seven Counts Which Supervisors Ignored

FOLLOWING are the charges which the Register reported were presented to the board of supervisors following its investigation in the Carrillo matter and which the board after a hearing declared were not substantiated. The board in a resolution adopted September 27, declared that it was to the best interest of the community and the Mexican people that Carrillo be retained in office.

These same charges were incorporated in the article which the plaintiff set up as his first cause of action in the libel suit against the Register and J. F. Burke, which resulted yesterday in a judgment for the defendants, without even requiring that they put on a single witness.

MRS. VON BUELOW IN PLEA FOR DIVORCE

CHICAGO, April 16.—(UP)—The marital bliss which a $50,000 gem robbery restored to Mrs. Lotte Brenner von Buelow, 58, for a time apparently was at an end today.

For the second time within three weeks, Mrs. von Buelow has filed suit for divorce against Henry Deschew, 36, alias Count Enrique von Buelow. The bill was filed five days after she became reconciled to her husband.

RAY L. RILEY IS SANTA ANA VISITOR

Ray L. Riley, state comptroller and a candidate for re-election to the state office, was in Santa Ana for a brief period today. The state officer visited with a number of his friends and devoted some time to looking over his "political fences." Riley was mentioned prominently two months ago as a possible candidate for governor.

MOTHER CAT AND BABIES BALK OPERATION OF MAIL TUBE AND DEDICATION OF NEW BUILDING

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—(UP)—Serious minded businessmen tore their hair, stenographers wrung their hands, a multi-millionaire was disappointed and office boys rejoiced today because influence and money meant nothing to a mother cat.

The occasion of the cat's victory was with the opening for occupancy of the new $4,000,000 Shell Oil company building, a thing of structural beauty and the last word in modern construction.

As so many cats are, selected as the birthplace for her children.

The kittens were born on the eve of the building's dedication, which was witnessed by Sir Henri W. A. Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch Shell. Local officials had desired that Sir Henri see the modern tube system. The mother cat, however, decided otherwise.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—(UP)—Roland Veon, census supervisor for Kern, Inyo and Tulare counties, was under treatment at a hospital today for injuries suffered in a knife brawl last night at a North Beach cafe.

Mrs. Throop, formerly known on the stage as Ruby De Remer, has sued Miss Barrymore for $3000, which represents the damage done, she says, to the delicate bric-a-brac and other antique furnishings of her New York residence, which Miss Barrymore leased for a year.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(UP)—A few pieces of antique furniture have disrupted an old friendship between Ethel Barrymore, actress, and Mrs. Ben Throop, wife of the Pittsburgh coal and iron millionaire.

Mrs. Barrymore, who was recently a guest of Mrs. Throop, was seen today by a reporter at her New York residence, which Miss Barrymore leased for a year.

with the matter, were introduced solely for the purpose of expressing malice. He also argued that the code provides there must be a fair and true report and argued that they were prima facie showing of malice.

Judge Schmidt, who had spent hours reading all the exhibits that were introduced by the plaintiff on the first day of the trial, Monday, the first day of the trial, he might in order as he stated, that he might be thoroughly familiar with the case, dismissed these arguments with a terse, "Anything further?" and upon being adjourned, he granted the motion. He also requested that there be no demonstration in the court room.

An indication of the fact that the plaintiff had failed to prove malice was seen when Burke went on the stand and an objection was sustained and the court to one of the questions asked by Menton. The question concerned the propriety of the editor and the objection was sustained by Attorney Clark on the ground that this question was not permissible until after actual malice was shown, and he asserted there was none in this case. The court sustained the objection and no further reference to this question was made by the plaintiff's attorneys during the trial.

Defense Prepared

When the case so drastically ended the defense had ready and waiting to prove the truth of their publications a host of some 40 witnesses, many of whom were Mexicans, many of whom had been referred to during the course of the trial and who had testified during the hearing before the board of supervisors, which resulted in action by the board, clearing their employee. The defense until the end maintained the truth of their articles and the judgment for the defendants is regarded as a vindication of the accuracy of the Register's statements and reports of the entire matter.

In making a ruling previously regarding some testimony that Menton was attempting to introduce, Judge Schmidt interposed a statement that if the report in the Register referred to in the third cause of action (Entitled "Here Are the Facts") was not correctly stated, it may be libel, but if it is correctly stated, it could not be libel.

Questioning of Burke by Menton brought forth the following statements and facts: That he is editor of the Register, which had a circulation during the period in question—August, September and October—of approximately 12,800, distributed all over the county, with a very small percentage going outside the county. That he first learned of the Carrillo matter after the first publication on August 30, 1929, from one of two members of his staff, Mason Yould, city editor, or Roch Bradshaw, reporter.

That he personally filed the charges with the board of supervisors after an investigation made by members of the staff and after affidavits had been obtained supporting these charges, and that he had made some personal investigation through pastors of the Mexican Baptist and Methodist churches.

That the article "Here Are the Facts and Here is the Whitewash" was written after a comparison of notes kept on the hearing before the board of supervisors to determine which testimony was denied by no one, which by Carrillo only and which by Carrillo and others.

Cross examination by Clark was then started and revealed the following high-lights: That he believed the information to be correct.

That he received the information from reporters who were truthful, reliable and trustworthy.

That publication of the investigation concerning the drivers' permits matter brought information on other matters that looked very serious—such as Carrillo asking money to get people out of jail and of others to get them in to see members of their families who were imprisoned.

Orders to Staff That he told the staff to publish nothing more until the truth of such reports was established by investigation, which was made and reported to him and which he believed in good faith.

That he told the staff to have sworn statements prepared and that he believed them and that the statements and affidavits which were presented to the court in this action were the ones in question, and that he received them prior to publication of all papers that had been introduced into the records of this case by the plaintiff, with the exception of that of August 30.

That he made his statements on the foundation of these statements.

That certain papers presented to the court were the petition to the presiding judge to convene the grand jury that had been referred to previously and that this petition came to his attention before the 10th of September, and he was partly influenced in making the investigation by the content of the petition.

That he was in no way instrumental in causing the petition to be drawn or circulated.

Held No Hatred

That he had no feeling of hatred or ill will toward the plaintiff or any desire to injure, annoy or harass him and that he did not cause the articles to be published with that intention.

That he had never met Carrillo before the 10th of September and that he first saw him at the hearing before the board of supervisors.

Earlier in the afternoon, Carrillo admitted that he had received a sum of money in excess of $50 from the brother of a man who was in jail for his services in interpreting and preparing a petition for parole of the prisoner. He denied, however, that he had represented that he had influence with the sheriff and district attorney, both of whom are members of the parole board. He also admitted that he had not been admitted to the bar, and that he accepted this position partially for advising the person giving it and for talking to the judge in connection with the case.

In explaining about issuing the temporary driver's permits during the rush of last summer, Carrillo stated that he had prepared a translation in Spanish of the questions and that he sold these translations to applicants for the examination, receiving in some instances five, and in others, ten cents for the papers. He declared that there were many persons taking the examinations who failed to pass and that some did not pay him, while others paid amounts ranging from 50 cents to $2. He insisted that his highest fee was $2. In answer to questions from the bench he estimated that he had helped issue from 1200 to 1500 permits and that he received fees in from 75 to 80 per cent of the cases.

It was also revealed in the interpreter's testimony that the traffic department was aware of the fact that he was giving the examinations and charging fees and that an inspector was present at one time when he gave an examination to a class of applicants. Carrillo declared that he never turned down a person who had successfully passed the examination, regardless of whether he received a fee or not and that he did not pass any applicant who could not pass the examination.

It was brought out on examination conducted by W. M. Burke and Franklin G. West, associate counsel for the defense, that the plaintiff had issued permits at his home, in a quantity he said was under 50. He declared that he gave the same character of examination as at his office and also gave the eye test. He admitted that the slips were signed by a traffic officer who had given the permits to Carrillo at his request for that purpose.

County Clerk J. M. Backs was a witness during the afternoon session yesterday appearing to give testimony relative to the time the office of county interpreter started and identified papers that had been copied from the records of the board of supervisors of which he is clerk, relative to the position. Backs was sworn in by Judge Schmidt, who interrupted the proceedings to explain to the overflowing court room that the county clerk could not be sworn in by his deputy, the court clerk, who was E. R. Kolbe. The manner in which Judge

Schmidt handled the case and issued decisions was the object of admiring comment by attorneys, court attaches and spectators, who were impressed with the ability of the Los Angeles jurist.

Attorney Menton stated today that future plans had not been discussed with his client and that although he was not in a position to say definitely, there was no indication of an appeal.

Court costs and $100 of the attorneys' fees automatically go against the plaintiff with the judgment for the defendant. A bond of $500, which is required by law to be filed with the complaint in libel cases, was posted to cover these items.

Cause of Action

Herewith is the article referred to elsewhere in the paper which was the basis of the third cause of action in the Carrillo libel suit against the Register and concerning which Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, who tried the case, stated during the course of the trial, "The matter to be determined here is whether or not the report of the investigation as carried by the paper is true and if this is a fair statement as to what took place at the hearing. If the report in the paper is not correctly stated, it may be libel, but if it is correctly stated, I do not see how it can be libel."

The judgment for the defendants yesterday which was granted on motion by Attorney W. M. Clark, held that they were not guilty of libel.

Testimony Denied By No One

"1. That Jose Becerra was brought by Carrillo for money for getting him out of jail, and that Becerra did pay him; that Carrillo demanded more and that Becerra reported it to the district attorney."

"2. That Carrillo took a fee of $2.00 from one Mexican to visit another in jail, a privilege which may be granted, but is not for sale."

"3. That temporary permits to drive automobiles have been issued by Carrillo, the permits being signed by a traffic officer after giving the examination when it was not true, and for this Carrillo took money from the Mexicans. (Captain Henry Meehan, of the traffic squad, testified that he had given Carrillo permission to issue licenses in this manner, but Captain Meehan or no other man has authority to allow another man to issue a paper which itself is a lie.)"

"4. That Carrillo asked Mrs. Olive Johnston, of Delhi, if she knew people owning stills there, and offered to split fifty-fifty with her."

"5. That Carrillo tried to collect money from one Juan Pena for claiming to have assisted him to get out of jail, writing him a letter. That Juan Pena protested and started trouble and that Carrillo warned Pena to leave him alone. (Carrillo stated that Pena had offered to pay him the money and that when Pena did not pay it he wrote Pena asking him if he had forgotten his promise. Carrillo said he did not demand the money but said he and Pena made an agreement whereby Pena was to pay him little by little.)"

"6. That Carrillo accepted $5.00 for attempting to patch up a marital difficulty."

"7. That Carrillo took the hand of an illiterate Mexican woman and forced her to sign a paper that she did not know the character of."

Testimony Denied Only by Carrillo

"1. That Carrillo took $6.00 for each of two letters written by Carrillo for the Mexicans purporting to be means to pass them into the United States, which were worthless."

"Andy," the executive almost shouted, "Sir Henri wants to see this system. What are we going to do?"

Anderson has a city-wide reputation as a go-getter. "Go and do it," regardless of handicaps is his working motto. This time he was stumped.

"Well," said Andy, "we have no choice except to pray that the mother cat will carry her kittens away by the nape of the neck as cats so often do. Anyway in a few weeks the little fellows will be strong enough to walk away. That is the answer. The system won't function until the cats leave of their own free will."

After Anderson explained that the cat and kittens could not be blown out because "the air current travels the wrong way" the executives were forced to accept the situation.

Rumors that the cat sympathized with office boys in general were without foundation, but it is a fact that many youngsters found posts as extra office boys because the pneumatic tube system was not functioning.

The cat purred contentedly and gazed placidly at the curious as she approached the tube opening, but her response to all advances was to carry her kittens back a bit in the tube.

And Sir Henri indicated that he sympathized with "Tabby" for a hearty laugh was his response when informed as to what had happened.

No one ever knew how many kittens arrived but, as Marmie, the soft hearted stenographer said, "If there are three we will name them Royal, Dutch and Shell."

Abyssinia Ruler's Armies Defeated In Two Major Battles

LONDON, April 16. — (UP)—Widespread revolt against Ras Tafari, emperor of Abyssinia, with the new Ethiopian ruler's armies defeated in two major battles, is reported today by the Daily News, Cairo correspondent.

The situation is reported serious, with the overthrow of Ras Tafari regarded in some quarters as almost inevitable.

The rebellion, according to the Daily News, is the result of suspicions of foul play in the sudden death of the late Empress Zeoditu, who ruled jointly with Ras Tafari over the African empire.

The late empress' followers, headed by the family of the late paramount chief, Gooksa, began the armed revolt in the Edwa and Harar provinces, with its object the "avenging" of the late Zeoditu.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Miss Helen Keller's experience is a parable for your life today. Completely shut away from the world of sight and of sound, she could have no real knowledge of the beautiful world of sunshine, of color and of music, and she knew not how to enter into understanding communion with those close beside her. She was patiently taught to speak and to interpret into the language of her own enlarging experience the glowing life about her, so that she could know its beauty, its hopes and its joy. At the moment, you feel that you are blind and deaf and dumb in relation to the life of your dear one who has been released from earth's burdens. Go eagerly forward, doing your best, and that Paradise is so close that you may feel its nearness and taste its blessedness.

PEREZ—At the home of his parents, near Garden Grove, April 15, 1930, Joseph Perez, age two months. Funeral services were held at 9:30 a. m. today under the direction of Farrell and Brown, Interment Santa Ana cemetery.

FROST—In Santa Ana, April 15, 1930, Clyde Robert Frost, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Frost, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Newland of Huntington Beach. Private funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from Smith and Tuttle's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery.

BOYNTON—April 14, 1930, Edgar W. Boynton, aged 54 years. Mr. Boynton was the father of Mrs. Una Heffner of Anaheim, and Mrs. May Hoffman of Santa Ana, and a brother of Mrs. B. W. Grant, Pasadena; Mrs. Ralph Teeter, Monrovia; N. Y.; Mrs. Wm. Lawson, Auburn, N. Y.; and Bert Boynton, Auburn, N. Y. Funeral services will be held Friday, April 18, at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tuttle's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery. Rev. O. Scott McFarland, officiating.

RICE—Mr. James S. Rice, aged 84 years, of Tustin, passed away April 15. He was survived by two sons, James Willis Rice and Percy F. Rice of Tustin. ## ASKS PUBLIC TO REFRAIN FROM PHONING OFFICE

Announcing that some census districts already have been covered and that others are 70 per cent complete, Stanley Goode, census supervisor for Orange and Riverside counties, today requested residents who have not been counted "not to get excited" and to wait for the enumerators to call upon them.

Goode explained that individuals calling at the census office or telephoning to state that they have not been counted so far would serve only to complicate the huge task, and asked that such calls be refrained from. He pointed out that, when the enumeration is closed, means will be provided for those who may not have been counted to supply the information in a previously arranged manner.

Goode declared, however, that the enumerators will be on the job until they have done all they can to complete their task, and said they might be working for several days more.

At the same time he announced that on or before May 1, he hoped to be able to announce population totals for the larger incorporated cities in the two counties, so that it will not be necessary to wait until the official announcement is made from Washington. The count will be subject to possible correction in Washington, but a double check will be made here to make sure that it is correct.

County Agricultural Commissioner A. A. Eock is expected to return today from the meeting of the Southern Counties Agricultural league, held yesterday in Death valley.

Funeral services will be held in the Winbiger Funeral home at 2 p. m. tomorrow, for James S. Rice, pioneer resident of this community, who died at St. Joseph's hospital, yesterday, as the result of an operation for amputation of his left leg. The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, will officiate at the services. Pallbearers will be Sherman Stevens, Josh Parker, James Sleeper, W. B. Williams, George Edgar and James Irvine Jr.

"Smilin' Eddie" Marble, tenor, and Lizzetta Phillips, dramatic soprano, both staff artists of KREG, "Voice of the Orange Empire," will present a program, from 9 to 9:30 tonight, dedicated to the Eddie Martin Pilots' association, in season at that time in Ketter's cafe. A radio in the cafe will enable the flyers to hear the especially arranged program. The Pilots' association, composed of approximately 175 students of Eddie Martin, will convene at 7:30. Election of officers will be the principal item of business before the organization tonight.

Donald Gibson, 3-year-old, was run down and slightly injured in front of 329 Wisteria place, yesterday afternoon, by an automobile driven by M. F. Quigley, 23, of 1441 East Tenth street, Long Beach, according to a report filed with city police. The child was removed to his home, nearby, and is not believed to have been hurt seriously. He was riding a tricycle at the time of the accident and ran it directly in front of the machine, according to the report.

Police Hunt For Wounded Man As Shooting Suspect

Search for a Mexican, who is believed to have been stabbed with an ice pick, was started today by the sheriff's office in connection with the shooting and beating of Salcido Sota, 42, of La Habra, last Saturday night.

Sota is in the county hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the arm and severe bruises and cuts about the head, inflicted with a pick handle, according to officers. The fight took place in Sota's front yard and several Mexicans participated, according to officers. Two men, Jose Contreras and J. Reyes, of La Habra, are being held in the county jail in connection with the fray.

R. C. BEST HURT IN RIVERSIDE ACCIDENT

Ralph C. Best, of Garden Grove, county employee, was seriously injured at 11 o'clock last night, when the automobile which he was driving crashed into a tree, after running off the road, near Riverside, according to information obtained here this morning.

Best is in the Riverside County hospital, where it was said that he was suffering from concussion of the brain. He was unconscious when police officers removed him from the wreckage of his machine, it was reported.

Hospital attendants this morning stated that although his condition was quite serious, Best would recover. His car practically was demolished, it was reported.

Police News

Cecil Bebout, 31, charged with reckless driving, was brought to the county jail last night by Brea officers. He was sentenced in the Brea court to serve 30 days in jail or pay a fine of $50.

Charged with petty theft, Juan Moreno, 34, was arrested by deputy sheriffs last night and is being held in the county jail in connection with the theft of avocados from the Irvine ranch. He is alleged to have sold 100 pounds of the immature fruit to several Japanese at La Mirada yesterday.

BLACKMAIL VICTIM GETS NEW THREATS

More threatening letters from mysterious extortionists have been received by Willard George, wealthy Wilshire district furrier, in Los Angeles, it was learned here today.

George came to Santa Ana, last week, on a Santa Fe train, with $6000 in cash wrapped in a package, ready to drop it between the rails when a pre-arranged signal was given, but when he did not see the signal, he got off the train here and returned to his home.

At that time, police officers, in airplanes and fast automobiles, followed the train, waiting to arrest the blackmailers when they gave the signal for George to drop the package.

The contents of the new letters have not been made public by Los Angeles police officers.

Two Judgments, Totalling $3900, Are Agreed Upon

Stipulated judgments for plaintiffs in two automobile accident damage cases were entered by Judge G. K. Scovel, yesterday afternoon, in which awards totalling $3900 were agreed upon in settlement of claims made through the court for damages amounting to $51,295.85.

George Baler was given judgment on stipulation for $1900, exclusive of property damage. A 10-day stay of execution was granted by the court. The defendants were Martin and Joe Apalategui, who, the complaint claimed, were responsible for an accident on the Anaheim boulevard, last September, which resulted in injuries to the plaintiff, Baler had asked for $22,334.85.

Joseph, Rita and Marjorie Catherine Hyans were plaintiffs in the other case in which judgment was entered by stipulation. They claimed to have sustained damages totalling $38,975 in an accident in Fullerton, last August, for which they blamed D. L. Strobeck et al. The

S. A. HONORED IN NATION-WIDE HEALTH SURVEY

Health programs conducted in the last year by Dr. K. H. Sutherland and his staff, of the Orange county health department, have won for this city honorable mention in cities in the fourth class in the United States participating in the inter-chamber of commerce health conservation contest.

Dr. Sutherland was advised by telegram this morning of the winners in the various classes, Milwaukee, for the first class; Syracuse in class 2; East Orange, N. J., in class 3; White Plains, N. Y., in class 4; and Sidney, O., in class 5. Cities having between 20,000 and 50,000 population were grouped in class 4, the grouping including Santa Ana.

Pointing out that the contest was a joint project of the United States Chamber of Commerce and the committee on administrative practices of the Public Health association, Dr. Sutherland said that 127 cities, representing 38 states, the District of Columbia and the Hawaiian Islands, participated.

"This total is equal to more than 10 per cent of the entire population of the United States," Dr. Sutherland said. "Twelve cities in California were enrolled. Cities winning first place are to receive bronze plaques. Certificates of honorable mention will be given a limited number of cities in each class which have high ratings."

CLUB ENTERTAINED BY VIOLIN ARTISTS

The Mustel trio, Evelyn, Nathalie and Virginia, entertained the members of the Santa Ana Exchange club with a series of well executed violin numbers yesterday at the meeting in the Santa Ana cafe. The girls, introduced by H. P. Harrison, program chairman, were given enthusiastic applause.

Homer Chaney, former member of the city council, addressed the group, taking as his subject the challenge of boyhood to the business men of today.

The Exquisite Complexions all the world Adores

Hollywood - Broadway - European stars - use Lux Toilet Soap

Renée Adorée, beloved Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, in the bathroom created for her in Hollywood. She says: "Lux Toilet Soap gives my skin that beautiful smoothness I thought only French soap could give. It is certainly a lovely soap."

Nine out of Ten stars depend on it for Smooth Skin

"NO girl can win admiration swiftly and surely unless she has a lovely skin," says Millard Webb, famous Hollywood director, expressing the conclusion reached by 45 famous Hollywood directors after long experience in choosing girls likely to win the adoring admiration of millions.

"To the motion picture star beautiful skin is an absolute necessity," he goes on. "The glaring lights magnify the slightest defect, and only the girl with exquisite skin can hope to win success."

How natural, then, that every girl in Hollywood, from the star down to the youngest "extra," should guard the beauty of her skin most jealously. And how significant that so many of them use Lux Toilet Soap!

To give their complexions just the gentle care that is required, they use it regularly, and have the softest, smoothest skin imaginable.

So luxurious, they say, so dainty! And it does give such generous lather, even in the hardest water.

9 out of 10 screen stars use it

In Hollywood, of the 521 important actresses, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. For their convenience it has been made the official soap in all the great film studios!

The lovely Broadway stars, too, depend on this fine soap to keep their complexions flawless. And the screen stars in the European capitals, too!

You will love this fragrant white soap—will find that it keeps your skin silken-smooth and soft, as it does the stars'. Order several cakes—today.

E. W. BOYNTON VETERAN PEACE OFFICER, DIES

Edward W. Boynton, 64, a police officer in Orange county for almost a quarter of a century, died at the Orange County hospital yesterday afternoon.

Death came after a lingering illness.

A native of Auburn, N. Y., Mr. Boynton had been a resident of Orange county since 1901, most of that time serving as a police officer in one capacity or another. He was county jailer here under Sheriff Charles E. Rudolph for four years, was constable of Santa Ana township and had served in the Santa Ana and Anaheim police departments.

His last police work was with the Santa Ana department, where he acted as desk sergeant on the day shift, resigning in 1926 because of poor health. He had been with the department for three years at that time and had served prior to that time for a number of years on the Santa Ana force.

Before coming to Orange county, Mr. Boynton was a police officer in Auburn, N. Y., and was a special guard over Leon Czolgosz, slayer of President McKinley, when Czolgosz was taken to Auburn to be electrocuted in October, 1901.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in the Smith and Tuttle funeral parlors, with the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, officiating. Burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Boynton was the father of Mrs. Una Heffner, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Asa Hoffman, of Santa Ana. Mrs. B. W. Grant, of Pas-

POLICE ESCORT IS GIVEN BRIDEGROOM

A minister called out the police last night to escort a bridegroom home.

The minister was the Rev. Marshall Richards, who has a "camp" wagon in Santa Ana Gardens. The bridegroom was Oliver Dennis, also of Santa Ana Gardens. The officers were Deputy Sheriffs Jess Buckles and A. L. Steward.

The sheriff's office was called at 10:15 last night and an escort was asked for Dennis. Wondering what it was all about, Buckles and Steward answered the call.

According to Buckles' report, Dennis got married several days ago and a number of his friends had been "taking him for rides" each night instead of allowing him to be with his bride. Monday night they took him out for several hours, Buckles reported.

"We saw a lot of the 'marauders' riding around in cars last night, but none of them tried to start anything," Buckles said.

LAWYERS SEEK SETTLEMENT IN DAMAGE ACTION

With the plaintiff in court on an ambulance stretcher, opposing attorneys in the damage action of Carmen Lazano vs. Mannie Kaplan, Sam Solotrow and Ralph and Ruth Boone, spent the entire morning in the chambers of Judge James L. Allen in an effort to make a settlement of the case without going to trial.

A claim of $107,000 for damages, sustained in an accident on Ocean avenue, near Garden Grove, last November, was filed by the plaintiff, who still is a patient in the Orange County hospital as the result of her injuries.

The complaint claims that severe injuries were inflicted on the plaintiff when a car driven by Ruth Boone struck her after colliding with a truck and trailer under the direction of Kaplan and Solotrow. The Lozano woman was standing at the side of the road at the time of the accident, it is claimed, when she was struck by the auto. The conference of attorneys broke up at noon, to be continued during the afternoon, in an effort to reach an agreement on the matter.

The courtroom was crowded with members of the jury panel, which was called for selection of a jury in the matter, witnesses and spectators.

TWO SENATORS REPLY TO J. C. PEACE LETTERS

Answers from two of the three petitions sent to President Herbert Hoover, Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator Samuel Shortridge, have been received by the Santa Ana junior college Y. M. C. A., which prepared the communications advocating the entrance of the United States into the World Court, and endorsing any action the United States might take in the London naval conference. Shortridge and Johnson sent replies to the local college. Short-ridge wrote at some length and also enclosed a treatise of his speech on the advantages of entering the World Court. Johnson, who is known to be an opponent of the move, acknowledged the petition.

Over 100 Dons signed the petitions, which later were the cause for many colleges to send out petitions. Los Angeles junior college and La Verne college were among the first to communicate with the government officials in Washington, D. C.

NEW CITY FOLDERS NOW ARE AVAILABLE

Copies of the new folder prepared by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce were available in the chamber office today, it was announced by Secretary George Raymer, who stated that residents would find the pamphlet valuable for sending to out-of-town friends.

The first page is done in colors and the interior pages are replete with views in this city and information concerning the community. The pictures show types of business houses, churches, school buildings, residences, hotels, orchards and beach scenes. Recreational points within the playground area of Santa Ana also are given prominent positions.

COAST ASSOCIATION SCORES POLLUTION OF OCEAN WATER AND URGES ACTION ON PARK

Resolutions attacking the pollution of ocean waters and the filling by individuals on rocks and islands in the Laguna Beach district, together with a report that action was needed on the state park project, featured a meeting of the Orange County Coast association at the Balboa Palisades club at Corona Del Mar last night.

A fric chicken dinner was served. Wives of members played bridge during the business meeting.

The resolution of J. P. Greeley concerning the traffic condition at the Arches, upon the request of the transportation committee, was laid on the table for 30 days.

Dr. F. C. Ferry as chairman of the marine committee, presented a resolution requested at the previous meeting. The resolution was unanimously adopted. It follows:

"Whereas, in order to properly control pollution of ocean waters, to keep the beaches free of oil from bilge pumping and other sources, and to further protect the game and food fish in Southern California waters, it appears necessary that the officials of the California Fish and Game commission be provided with a adequate patrol boat in which to patrol the waters from Santa Barbara to San Clemente, now, therefore be it resolved, by the Orange County Coast association in regular meeting assembled this 15th day of April, 1930, that:

"The governor of the state of California and the members of the California Fish and Game commission be urged to supply at the earliest possible date, a patrol boat suited to the services as above outlined."

The transportation committee reported that the securing of the additional right-of-way for the 100 feet of the Coast highway was progressing nicely in Orange county except through a small strip near Laguna Beach. It was announced that a meeting with the interested parties will be arranged in the near future by the state road officials.

Ray Baldwin, of Long Beach, chairman of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce of Long Beach, and the regional planning committee, stated that the proposed route through Long Beach, as planned by the committee, had met with some unexpected opposition, along a part of the route but that the officers were looking up another routing of that section.

"Be it resolved, that the Orange County Coast association go on record as being strenuously and unalterably opposed to the granting of these applications and that we earnestly protest the granting of same, and, further, be it resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, the secretary of the interior, the commissioner of the general land office, Senators Johnson and Shortridge and Congressman Swing, the registrar of the U. S. land office at Los Angeles."

During the discussion it was learned that Laguna Beach had taken action by filing protests against the permitting of the rocks to pass into private ownership. Leslie Kimmell, the city attorney, was called upon to read the protest, which he had discovered to be the proper form to use, through a two days survey and conference with the government officials at Los Angeles, and a motion to adopt that resolution and accept the form for officials of the various communities to use was carried.

James Irvine Jr., stated that the physical difficulties that existed in securing the extra 20 feet for the highway through the Irvine estate could be overcome without much difficulty in his opinion, and that otherwise there would be no difficulty. He also hoped that the association would be successful in its efforts against the individuals who had filled on the rocks in the ocean.

Tom Talbert stated that if there was not something done about the state park, that the opportunity to acquire that property would be gone, never to return. He reported that three of the five appraisers had been appointed by the board of had been pointed by the board of supervisors, but that things were dragging too much. Donald Jones, of Fullerton; F. E. McCarter, of Santa Ana, and Willis Warner, of Huntington Beach, are the men already named. Jess Armitage, of Sunset Beach, remarked that at the present rate of speed the land would be off the market before anything was done. Stuart Lucas, of Corona Del Mar, one of the candidates for supervisor in the fifth district, remarked "that as this park was principally of interest to the people from the inland part of the county, it would be the proper time to see if the county could agree upon anything, and as Talbert is connected to the Royal family of the House of Orange, he might be able to speed up matters."

A letter from Sumner Crosby, of Laguna Beach, was read, stating that he would be unable to attend, as he would be in rehearsal at the Community club at Laguna Beach for the blackface frolic, "The Lady from Memphis," which will be produced in Laguna April 24, 25 and 26.

Charles J. Coll, president of the Laguna Beach Players, Ltd., outlined the program of the organization for the ensuing year and issued an invitation to the members to attend the frolic and the competition between the several community players organizations, which takes place at Santa Ana May 1, 2 and 3.

The Laguna players appear May 2. Charles Eland extended an invitation to attend the opening of the Ford plant in Long Beach next Monday. Reception hours will be 10 to 12 and 2 to 4 p. m.

The first leg of the golf tournament will be held at the Santa Ana Country club April 28 for the Talbert prize of a cow.

Talbert was appointed as delegate to the industrial convention at San Francisco May 2 and 3.

Upon the invitation of R. W. Whitaker the next meeting was set for Capistrano Beach.

1000 EXPECTED AT FIREMEN'S PICNIC

The Anaheim city park has been chosen as the place for 1000 firemen and their families to assemble for a great picnic on April 27.

The affair is being sponsored by the Orange County Firemen's association and several associations of Southern California have accepted invitations, including Imperial Valley, Citrus Belt, San Gabriel, Harbor district and the newly formed San Diego County Firemen's association.

It is expected that guests will arrive in Orange county on April 26 and will attend the midnight matinee benefit, which the Orange county association will hold in the Fox Broadway theater, Santa Ana. A special screen and stage program will be presented, the proceeds from which will go to the work of the association.

La Habra Ready For Purchase Of New Fire Engine

LA HABRA, April 16.—Councilman M. A. Robinson announced at the meeting of the city council last night that the city will be able to buy a larger and better equipped engine than had been planned.

It will probably be another month before the $15,000 fire bonds can be sold and construction work started on the new engine house, it was stated. General discussion at the meeting had to do with a signalling device for fire alarms.

City Attorney R. Reed was asked to draw up a fireworks ordinance for the next meeting. The ordinance to exclude the shooting of fireworks in a fire zone which includes Central avenue and the alleys on each side from Cypress to California streets and will permit the shooting the day before, the day of celebration and the day after.

The board will meet Monday evening to canvass the vote.

REHEARSALS BY OPERETTA CAST ARE UNDER WAY

With rehearsals being held nightly, approximately 80 of Santa Ana's best musicians are co-operating for the presentation of Charles Wakefield Cadman's operetta, "The Belle of Havana," which will be featured for the enjoyment of the community during Music week in May.

A general rehearsal by members of the cast will be held next Friday night in the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, at which the attendance of every member is urged.

Performance of the clever operetta has been scheduled for Thursday night, May 8, in the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

The fact that the composer, Charles Wakefield Cadman, will be present and will personally direct the performance, will be an added attraction that no music lover in this section will miss.

The unusually vivid setting of the operetta is laid in Havana, Cuba. Typical in its colorful portrayal of Cuban life, the work opens with a brilliant masquerade scene. The music also is of strikingly brilliant nature, spirited and gay.

Principal members of the cast include some of Santa Ana's best known singers, among them Mrs. Marguerite Baker, Mrs. Cecil Williams, Mrs. Julia Hyde, Miss Margaret Rust, James Sewell, Alex Garoway, Elmer Thompson, Arthur Collins, Carson Smith, Tom Hollowell, Maurice Phillips and George Duke, Miss Margaret Gabe.

The cast will be supported by a large chorus of 50 trained singers, chosen from ranks of the leading organizations of the city. D. C. Clifton will direct the choral ensemble, while stage direction of the production will be in charge of Gladys Simpson Shafer, favorite dramatic artist and prominent in the Community Players. Members of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra will furnish orchestral accompaniment for the operetta.

ATTACKS HUSBAND

Mrs. Jesus Gonzales, of Delhi, was taken into custody by Santa Ana Police Officers Holmes and Fink, yesterday afternoon, when she is said to have lost her mind and attacked her husband with a butcher knife. The woman recently was in the state hospital in Norwalk, officers reported. She was taken to the county hospital.

One dollar, invested for 100 years at 6 per cent, compounded, will earn more than $338, while at 3 per cent it would earn only a little more than $19.

Count Colstol, the Russian author, always went hatless and barefooted, no matter what the weather.

7 Strong Reasons

Why You Should Own a

CATERPILLAR
TRACTOR

- 1 Enormous volume of production plus superior engineering make it possible to produce "Caterpillar" Tractors at very low prices. Savings are passed on to the purchasers.
- 2 The distributor's margin on "Caterpillar" Tractors is 50% lower than the profit on ordinary tractors. You get the benefit of the difference in finer construction and lower price.
- 3 A "Caterpillar" Tractor will not pack the soil. You can get on the ground sooner after a rain or irrigation—finishing the job while the ground is in prime condition.
- 4 "Caterpillar" Tractors do not waste fuel in slippage. They do not get stuck. They handle perfectly—you never bark a tree or break a standpipe.
- 5 "Caterpillar" Tractors have taken the drudgery out of tractor work. Easy riding and finger-tip steering make driving a "Caterpillar" really enjoyable.
- 6 It costs less to operate a "Caterpillar" Tractor. A "Caterpillar" will work more acres per gallon of fuel. None of it is wasted in slippage. Repairs are few and far between. Prices of parts are from 25% to 50% lower than the average for other tractors.
- 7 When you own a "Caterpillar" you are always sure of getting a very superior type of service wherever and whenever you need it. Your "Caterpillar" will never be more than an hour away from Shepherd Service.

FERTILIZERS AND FERTILIZERS
Orange California

Shepherd Tractor & Equipment Co.,
116 West 12th Street,
Los Angeles, California. March 10, 1930.

Gentlemen:

Our business is contracting for the care of orchards and we are now taking care of some 1000 acres. In this work it is necessary that we not only have equipment that does the best possible job as that we can build our customers, but equipment that is fast, economical and does not waste time for repair.

You will notice that after trying other makes we have now standardized on your "Caterpillar" tractors exclusively, and are using some of them in our work. They have been very satisfactory — they are far more reliable than anything else we use and the cost of repairs has NOT BEEN MORE THAN ONE-THIRD AS MUCH AS THE COST OF REPAIRS ON OTHER MAKES THAT WE HAVE USED.

I also want to say a word about the new Killdeer Off Set Disc that we just purchased. Killdeer has a long time getting out on the Set Disc, but they certainly have one use that pertains 100%. I am going to order some more as soon as we can make them. It does wonderful work, turns to the right or left with equal ease, and is built to stand the test.

Yours very truly,
A. M. Caspari

MRS. JOHNSTON IS FEATURED ON KREG PROGRAM

By the Radio Editor

Mrs. Taylor Johnston, noted Pacific coast coloratura soprano, who is to present a Classic Hour program over the "Voice of the Orange Empire" each Wednesday night, will present her first concert from KREG tonight, appearing before the microphone in what should prove the highlight program of the night. Her program will start at 7:45.

Mrs. Johnston, who came to the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music from Merced, has many professional pupils throughout the state and hopes to bring several of them to Santa Ana to participate in future KREG programs. Following a recent concert in San Francisco, the Pacific Coast Music Review said of the Santa Ana artist:

"Mrs. Johnston possesses a natural coloratura soprano, which she uses with ease and intelligence, bringing out the florid passages with unerring accuracy. She has personality and understands how to secure the best effects from adequately rendered composition."

A studio program, as usual, will get this evening's entertainment under way and Inez Moore will conduct her daily Children's hour from 4:30 to 5 o'clock, featuring, this evening, Bertalee Strength and Opal Farrin, two young Anaheim piano students in the Shoppers' Guide musical program which will occupy the hour between 5 and 6 o'clock, after which Alan A. Revell will present one of his popular organ recitals, playing by remote control from the First Congregational church. Revell will be on the air from 6 to 6:30.

Cleo Bowers Hein, soprano will sing from 6:30 to 7 o'clock, at which time KREG listeners will hear the late news dispatches read. Mrs. L. L. Beeman will read from her prize collection of poems, which she has entitled "Treasures of Heart and Home," between 7:15 and 7:45. Mrs. Beeman's program first was presented last week and many requests have been received for the talented reader since that time. She will be assisted tonight by Lizzetta Phillips, KREG staff pianist and soprano. Mrs. Taylor Johnston's program will follow, the coloratura soprano to be on the air from 7:45 to 8:15. Allen Lair will be her accompanist.

The Holly Lash Vase Singers, recipients of numerous requests every time they appear before the KREG mike, will be back on the ether waves tonight, singing from 8:15 to 8:45, when the weekly radio class in "International Relations" will get under way, to continue for 15 minutes. The "International Relations" class is conducted each Wednesday night by L. L. Beeman, head of the social science department in the Santa Ana Junior college.

Lizzetta Phillips will bring her dramatic soprano voice to the mike for a 15-minute program starting at 9 o'clock and at 9:15 "Smilin' Eddie" Marble will offer his nightly 15-minute program of requests. Lucille Newberry, soprano, will conclude the night's entertainment, singing from 9:30 to 10 o'clock on programs brought through the courtesy of the Diamond Bootery, Yost Halmay shop and Horton Furniture company.

The wonder of radio will enable millions of persons, from every nook and corner of the United States, to worship with the Easter Pilgrims, next Sunday Morning, at the Services held atop Mt. Davidson, in San Francisco. The Easter service, which will be the eighth to be held on Mt. Davidson, will be broadcast over the Coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting company and will be available to radio listeners between 5 and 6 o'clock, Pacific standard time, Easter morning—Mt. Davidson, which is the site of one of the most unique Annual religious Assemblies in the nation, is one of the seven Hills upon which the City of San Francisco is built and its Slopes are covered with Eucalyptus, cedar and Pine trees, and About 100 varieties of wild flowers—its many trails lead to a mammoth cross on its top, where thousands of worshippers of all Denominations gather for The traditional Easter service.

At approximately 5:28 a.m., When the first rays Of the morning sun make Themselves visible From behind distant Peaks, a trumpet call Will announce the Arrival of dawn—Pastors from a number Of San Francisco Churches will Co-operate in making The service a Beautiful one and each Will have a definite Part in the program—

COLLINS GETS HIGH POST WITH BELL COMPANY

Santa Ana has another name to add to her roster of business and professional successes—that of Cyril Collins, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Collins, of 921 Garfield street, who has been transferred from the San Francisco office of the Bell Telephone company to the offices of the same company in New York City.

Collins at one time was associated with his father in the nursery business in this city and was a prominent leader in Y. M. C. A. and church circles. He served as president of the Epworth league of the First Methodist church and was noted for his public speaking abilities. His parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Collins, still are active in the church.

Five years ago, Collins was graduated from the University of Washington and was selected with one other student, from a group of 33, to become connected with the telephone company in San Francisco.

an honor which is conferred each year upon two students.

Last Wednesday Collins was notified of his transfer to the office in New York City, where he will be engaged in the development of new types of automatic equipment for the Bell laboratories there. He spent the week end with his parents here and left yesterday on the S. S. Virginia, from Wilmington harbor, for the east, sailing by way of the Panama canal.

Collins' wife and infant daughter, who have been living in Sausalito, are visiting Mrs. Collins' parents in the north and will join him in New York at a later date.

Besides his duties in the company office in San Francisco, Collins was choir director in the First Presbyterian church and instructor in night classes for adult education.

One raw material alone must pass 25 tests

Maybe you've wondered why some paints are sold at prices below those of Fuller products. You'd soon know, if you could spend a day in one of the Fuller laboratories.

Only the very best raw materials are used to begin with. In Pure Prepared, for exterior woodwork... one of the materials used is Linseed Oil. And it must be absolutely pure.

Further... to assure you of the most durable and attractive mixed paint that modern science can produce... Fuller chemists subject that Linseed Oil to 25 detailed tests... it's even tested. All this... before we even start to make paint out of it. And... this is only one of the several materials used in Fuller Prepared Paint.

This care that W. P. Fuller & Co. takes in preparing its paints, is the reason why Fuller Paints are so beautiful in texture, and long-lasting... and why so-called cheap paints, are "cheap".

DON'T MISS ZENA DARE'S colorful radio visit every Wednesday morning at 11:10 over the N.B.C. network; also over KSL and KGBL. Why not write to her at W. P. Fuller & Co., San Francisco, for free book-lets, "Color Ideas"?

FULLER GLO
For interior walls, ceilings, woodwork, and furniture... Fullerglo is an ideal semi-gloss enamel... resulting in a pleasing, smooth, satin-like texture... which is easily washed with soap and water. It has remarkable wearing quality. Resists abrasion... and will not chip. Fullerglo is available in a wide variety of modern colors and pastel tints... at Fuller dealers everywhere, and at Fuller Paint Stores. Insist that your painter use it.

DECORET
Because of its quick-drying qualities, which make it such a joy to work with, Decoret has been extremely popular for painting furniture, decorating picture frames, baby carriages, toys, etc. It is smooth-flowing, remarkably durable, and is available in a wide variety of colors... at Fuller Paint Stores, and at Fuller dealers everywhere, are "cheap".

The Story of a Girl Whose Secret Trained Her from New York to California

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STORY THIS FAR:

Dory Garrison, actress, fleeing from a painful romance in New York, goes to California, and is married to Jerd Penfield. She does not tell Jerd of the extent of her affair with Bruce Macgowan, Wally Oliver, an actor, who knew Dory in New York, blackmails her. Wally reappears.

CHAPTER 23.

Dory thought that she would tell Jerd casually that poor old Wally Oliver had turned up, broke, and that she had loaned him a few hundreds for the New York trip. But exactly the right occasion for the admission did not seem to present itself that evening, and she was glad to let the matter go by unrecorded.

It was a very warm evening, and Jerd came home tired. For the first time since Rhoda's elopement Jerd and Dory did not feel themselves bound to dine at the big house, and they enjoyed their own intimate little dinner table all the more because of the break. Afterward Jerd sat on, on the terrace, which was spotted with light and shadow in a lacy pattern by moonlight pouring down through grapevines, and passion-flower vines, and Dory, after the usual nursery inspection, and the usual replacing of Jerry's blanket and abduction of the white bear, went blinking out of the lighted hall to the terrace, and found Jerd's chair, and seated herself on one of its wide, low arms. She laid an arm about his neck, and felt his own arm, in return, secure about her waist.

"Tired, Jerd dearest?"

"Well, it's been quite a strain, sweetheart."

"But it's over, isn't it?"

"Yes. They all got off today."

"And was it all satisfactorily settled for you, Jerd?"

"Oh, yes. I have no more to do now until the estimates are in. Then they want me to go over 'em. It was only—"

"Only—?" she echoed alertly.

"Well, that they would have liked me to go up to Saskatchewan with them. Interesting men, and some women going—they'll help their own car. I couldn't help thinking how you'd like it, Dory."

"Me!" she echoed amazedly, lips against his hair. "Dearest boy, why me?"

"Oh, well, it'll be quite a trip. You'd adore it."

"But the miserable old leg won't fit in?"

"I'd be afraid. They're going to ride and shoot and tramp—I'd be a drag."

"Goody!" said Dory, in deep content.

"You don't mean that, darling."

"All right," she said drowsily, undisturbed, "I don't mean it."

"You've been so tied since the boy was born, Dory."

"I know, poor me."

"I mean it."

"And I mean it, too. No, I'll tell you when I'm to be pitted," Dory said, suddenly serious. "I really do pity myself, and it's the only time I pity myself, Jerd, when the sound of your motor car dwindles away down the lane, until it comes back again. I live, but I'm only half alive. The strangest feeling of blankness comes over me. Everything that happens to me only happens as much as I can make of it for you, when you get home. I grudge the baby his—his deliciousness, if you're not here. Today—tonight, when you came in, I was over at your mother's, with Jerry. And coming back, dawdling along, I heard Kate say, 'Why, there's Mr. Penfield's car—he must be home.' You heard me yell like a Comanche. Dory finished simply, 'and came streaking in to see you.' They were silent a long time; then she said:

"I don't need anybody else in the world as long as I can have you, as long as you're satisfied to come home home at night to your wife."

"Gosh, this is pleasant, when you're tired," Jerd said, after a while.

"Where'd you lunch, Jerd?"

"At the hotel—right in the room."

"That wasn't much fun."

"It was all right. Where'd you lunch, Dory?"

"With Mother and Granny." And she thought of Wally again, and pushed him out of her mind.

It was fragrant, warm, and dark on the terrace; the moon set early, but the street lights, a few hundred feet away, laced the blackness with shafts of silver, and from the kitchen window a double square of glowing color fell on the shining big leaves of the laurels on the path.

They talked lazily on and on—about the baby, about Rhoda, about the two households, and Mary's household, about plans to go up to the mountain cabin for a few weeks of rest.

"Mother and Dad could come up to lunch Saturday, and he could go right on to his golf afterward."

"We could have curried chicken—I'm sure of that—and a big salad."

"Anything worrying you today, Dory?"

"Me?" There was only a natural pause before the "Why?"

"You looked tired—pale, when you came in."

"Oh, well, I'd been carrying Jerry. I was so tired, and I just flopped him into the pen, and came rushing in—that was it."

Her opportunity had passed; she was conscious of no emotion but thankfulness. The doors of her heart shut on steel springs; there was nothing to confess. What Wally's insinuations had indicated simply had not been; there was no proof of it, there was no credible witness to it, she must meet it with resolute denial in her thoughts as well as in her words.

Wally had gone to New York, he was on his way now hammering up past Sacramento—Reno and Oregon tomorrow, Omaha the next day, then Chicago, and then the biggest city, still snowy and blowy and grim in the clutch of winter. A place so distant and so different from shadowed, balmy, eucalyptus-shaded Palo Alto, a place of such different thoughts and activities and values, that the tiny concerns of one Dory Penfield might well be lost to his view, as she meant him to be from hers.

She slept that night in a fresh sense of security. She had met the dragon, she had conquered him. Walking to and fro on the station platform, she had faced him firmly: "You know nothing about me, I defy you to do your worst. It won't be bad enough to leave the sunniest, little soul—to raise the faintest cloud between my happiness and myself!"

And he had gone. Gone with five hundred dollars in the vest pocket of that disreputable, baggy old brown checked suit, to be sure, but after all—after all, friends were making loans to each other every day, and what of it? Why couldn't a rich girl, as Dory was now, advance an old friend the price of a ticket East? The check would return in a few days, and Dory would destroy it, and after that it would not be easy for Mr. Wally Oliver to prove any statements he chose to make. Jerd never looked at her private account unless she asked him to. He might, in the course of the next six months, see a balance statement and ask innocently, "Is that all the money you have, sweetheart? Here, I'll fix you up..." and that would be the end of it.

"If I was the husband and I got wind of a thing like that, I'd simply turn to the lady and say, 'Do you deny it?'"

Thus Wally, odious and fat and complacent with something she was always inclined to define as "sporting" in his attitude. One of those baggy, ill-groomed men who think they know everything about women. One of those teeth-picking, nail-cleaning men who speak of a woman as "the lady."

"Sure, I know all about their little lies and weaknesses, and the way the girls scratch each other," Wally's smile seemed to say. Dory remembered hearing him boast, years ago, of his conquests among them. "She began to cry and says to her, 'Why, look here—look here...!'"

Another time: "Put that purse back where you found it, girlie, I says to her."

Oh, odious and insufferable! Dory felt that she could kill him. And to think that she, the dainty, unapproachable, and proud, the envied and admired little Mrs. Jerd Penfield, had put herself into a position to justify Wally's insulting estimate of women generally...

But this thought, again, she must resolutely deny. Wally was no more to her than any other loafing, sponging, conceited worldling; she would help any one of them who came her way, and Wally with the rest, that was all.

Dory turned on her face, and jerked an edge of the pillow comfortably under her cheek, and was almost immediately asleep.

Too bad Will wasn't going this strong when Admiral Dewey retired from public life.

OUR QUESTIONNAIRE TO CANDIDATES

There are some things THE FUMIGATOR wants to know about the candidates for public office in Orange county, so send in your answers at once.

1. Did you ever vote for a Democrat? If not, why not?

2. If not, did you ever see a Democrat or anybody admit he was a Democrat in Orange county? (Answer "No" will not be accepted.)

3. Have you quit beating your wife? (Answer Yes or No.)

4. Do you believe in "huddle-government," and, if elected, will you huddle or will you not?

5. Have you within the past two years ever matched nickels at a soda fountain, lost, and suddenly claimed that the other fellow was to try to match you instead of him? Come on, boys, be honest.

6. Have you ever outfumbled a friend for the waiter's check?

7. Have you violated any section of the motor vehicle act within the past half hour?

8. Will you, if elected, always buy merchandise not advertised on billboards? (Answer this right if you want OUT VOTE.)

9. What in the name of common sense do you want to run for public office, anyhow? (Answer Yes or No.)

THAT'S COMPLICATING

CONWAY, Ark., April 15.—(UP)—Two men by the same name—John W. Peters—have announced next primary election in a town—they will run for constable in ship near here.

GIRL, 8, IS POET

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 15.—(UP)—Beulah Sevier Morris, 8, has written a book of poems that have been declared "extraordinary" for a girl of her age.

Who Fiendishly Wrecked the "West Coast Limited"?

The crack flier sped along through the night. With a thunderous roar, she struck the "spread" section of rail. A sickening lurch, a terrific crash and the famous "West Coast Limited" lay on her side—a twisted, steaming wreck!

From the darkness, a single bandit appeared. Who was this fiend, this wicked murderer? Detectives were "on the jump" to catch him. A shrewd, determined sleuth from Los Angeles played a "hunch"—tracked his man through four states and then...

Here are the real "inside" facts of this recent crime. You will be amazed by the audacity of the criminal and the clever detective work that finally brought him to justice. The report is complete in the May Issue of True Detective Mysteries.

The Baffling Mystery of Cambridge Turnpike

The dead body of a pretty girl is found on the roadside. A dark, rainy, miserable night adds to the horror of the dreadful discovery. And when detectives arrive, there is not a single clue to the murderer.

On theory alone, detectives unravel the mystery. Step by step, they uncover the tragedy of a girl's life... an illicit affair with a married man and the sordid motive for the murder. This story entitled "The Baffling Mystery of Cambridge Turnpike" features a powerful moral. Don't miss reading it as presented by True Detective Mysteries in the May Issue of this remarkable magazine.

"The Man from Rising Sun"

"Where's my sister?" demanded young Erdman Olson.

"I don't know. Why?"

"You're a liar," screamed the frantic boy. "You took her away last night!"

Later they found the body of beautiful, innocent Clara Olson. Brutally murdered, the poor girl never quite realized the vicious deceit of her lover.

Under the title of "The Man from Rising Sun," this tragic case is reported in dramatic detail in the May Issue of True Detective Mysteries. Read it!

HONOR MATRON OF MEETING OF EASTERN STAR

Preliminary arrangements regarding the building of the new Masonic temple, and the accommodations to be sought by the various Masonic bodies of this city in the interim, were announced Monday night in connection with the celebration of Orange County night by the Santa Ana chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

Santa Ana and Hermosa chapters, O.E.S., will hold their meetings in I.O.O.F. temple, the former on the second and fourth Tuesday nights, and the latter on the first and third Tuesday nights. The Blue lodges and Commandery also will hold their meetings in the Odd Fellows temple, while other Masonic groups and organizations will be accommodated in the Knights of Pythias building. It has been definitely announced that work on raising the Masonic temple, at the corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets, would begin June 10.

Last night's meeting of Santa Ana chapter was one of the most important of the year, with over 200 guests welcomed from other Eastern Star groups of the county. Mrs. Elizabeth Kloess received special courtesies, since it was the annual "Associate Matron's night." Both chapter and banquet room were lavishly decorated with great baskets of flowers, sent by Mr. and Mrs. Merle Morris.

Mrs. Charles H. Ryan, as refreshments chairman, was assisted by Mesdames Mildred Sutton, Marie Roehm, Myrtle Shields, Leo Stadelman, Imogene Reif, Effie Neuschwanger, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prather, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rez and Messrs. Roland Kloess and Glenn Lycan. Refreshments planned by them provided one of the pleasant features.

Margherita Marsden, as program chairman, presented a most enjoyable interval with the assistance of Eva Wyckoff, Madeline Pritchard and Marie Fowler. The greeting song, "Heigh-ho Everybody," was followed by "Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden," both by Virginia Pritchard, after which southern melodies were sung by the Marsden octet, composed of Pearl Hyde, Marguerite Baker, Agnes Bacon, Juanita Ahern, Margaret Rust, Blanche Owens, Ornska Ornsdorf and Edna Blohan.

The program continued with a dance, by Lorraine Turk; reading, "The Last Hymn," by Madeline Pritchard; octet number, "Little Blue Bird of My Heart"; readings, "Weeds of a Boy" and "The Family Disgrace," by George Hyde, and a Gypsy ensemble, composed of Lorraine Turk, dancer; Georgia Belle Walton, violinist; Mario Mercurio, tenor; Margherita Marsden, mezzo-soprano, and Ruth Armstrong, pianist.

All were in Gypsy costume and gave a varied program, ending with the duet, "Home to Our Mountains," from Verdi's "Il Trovatore," beautifully sung by Mrs. Marsden and Mario Mercurio, and "Gypsy Sweetheart" and "Neapolitan Nights," sung by Mercurio.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, April 16.—Twelve tables of cards were played at the Midway City Community clubhouse Friday evening when a party sponsored by the Midway City Woman's club as given by members of the ways and means committee.

Prizes in bridge went to Mrs. R. R. Suess, Mrs. Robertson, J. Montgomery and John R. Harper. In "500," Mrs. Catherine Adams, of Santa Ana, received first prize, Lois Treece, of Oceanview, second; Mr. Edwards first, Millard Boyd, second. Prizes of cookie jars, cigaret containers, card boxes and fancy dishes were given as prizes. Refreshments served consisted of French apple pie with whipped cream and coffee. The card parties will be held the second Friday of each month.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Enos entertained at cards in their home Friday evening. Guests playing included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yost, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yost and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Enos.

Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Harry Yost, Mrs. M. V. Enos, of Midway City, were entertained at luncheon and at cards on Saturday in the home of Mrs. Carl Yost in Huntington Beach. The women are members of a card club which meets regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Enos spent a day of Mr. Enos' vacation on a trip to Glendale and Verdugo while Mrs. Enos spent a day in Fullerton accompanied by her daughter, and another was spent by them at Pasadena, where they were guests of Mrs. Hoyt. Mrs. McKay accompanied them to Los Angeles for the day. Thursday Mrs. J. P. Ladd, a friend from Fullerton, was a visitor in the Enos home.

Mrs. Esser and daughter, Isabelle Esser; Mrs. W. H. Taylor and W. H. Krepp were visitors in Long Beach Saturday.

Mrs. William Gillispy was a guest Friday evening of Mrs. W. H. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Worthy and family, of Van Nuys, were Wednesday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Worthy and Wednesday evening guests were another son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Worthy, and son, of Huntington Beach.

The F. J. Armantrout pharmacy has changed proprietors. Mr. Armantrout, who established his business here in early days of the building up of Midway City, has traded with Bert M. Groell of Lancaster, for a 40-acre alfalfa ranch at Lancaster.

Mr. Armantrout has gone to his new property and will be back and forth until the close of school in June, at which time he will be joined by Mrs. Armantrout and Miss Hazel Armantrout.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKenzie and son, John McKenzie, and Mrs. McKenzie's sister, Mrs. Sarah Pohl, left Monday afternoon to drive through to Portland, where they will make their home for the new year with Mrs. Pohl.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McKenzie, cousins of Mr. McKenzie, gave a chicken dinner as a farewell to the departing relatives, those in the party being Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie and son, Mrs. Pohl, Miss L. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McKenzie and son.

There was a large attendance Sunday evening at the Midway City Nazarene church when members of the local chamber of commerce and their families were special guests. The sermon was preached by the pastor, the Rev. J. J. Woodson. A special song service was enjoyed, the orchestra led by Mrs. Ed. L. Hensley accompanying and also presenting two special selections, Doyle Gilbert and U. E. Harding, of Santa Ana, presented a vocal duet.

Friends and former neighbors of William Gamboni, who moved but a few weeks ago from Midway City, are sorry to learn that Mr. Gamboni, who is a World war veteran, is very low at the government hospital at Sawtelle. Mr. Gamboni was a patient at the hospital several different times while residing here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Luff entertained Mrs. Luff's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith, of Fullerton, as guests in their home. Jack Smith remained over until Tuesday in his aunt's home at which time the Luff family motored to Fullerton taking him home, Mrs. Luff remaining to spend a couple of days in the Smith home.

H. E. Johnson, local business man, who recently suffered a stroke, is reported as unimproved. Mr. Johnson is at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Scholl, in Long Beach.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson motored to Colton Monday to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Gallo-way, and family. In their absence, a nephew, C. D. Grey, arrived as a visitor in their home.

Mrs. J. F. Armantrout and Miss Hazel Armantrout are rooming at the Schreuman home since Mr. Armantrout's departure for Lancaster, where the family is to move at the close of high school in June.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, April 16.—Charles Blaylock is ill in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blaylock. He was an overnight visitor at home Thursday night when he became ill with the mumps.

Several teachers of the Oceanview school left with the commencement of spring vacation. Prof. and Mrs. R. A. Shostag and family are spending the time at their ranch home at Tustin.

Miss Winifred Woodward has gone to Imperial valley where she will spend a part of the time.

Mrs. Harriette Dowty is leaving about May 10 for her former home in Kansas and expects to remain a year with members of her family who make their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox left Saturday morning for Paso Robles to spend a week visiting as the guest of Mrs. Fox's uncle, Charles Gruell, who is a frequent visitor here. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bartlett, of Huntington Beach, are remaining in the Fox home during their absence.

A quality you would want if you knew all of the Facts

Anyone can make good coffee.

Schilling selects only the finest coffee beans—so can anyone.

Schilling blends them for flavor and body—so can anyone.

Schilling grinds them not too fine, nor too coarse—so can anyone.

Schilling seals them in Vacuum—so can anyone.

Schilling produces only the first grade—so can anyone—BUT only Schilling does it.

Contrary to common practice, Schilling specializes on one grade only.

There are no 2nd or 3rd grade Schilling coffees—no cheap blends.

The finest things usually come from those who make fine things only. There are many fine coffees—but where is the finest apt to come from?

Fact No. 26. There are 43 facts about Schilling products. For example:—Take a spoonful of Schilling Ground Mustard and a spoonful of any other. Let them stand for a few hours on a piece of paper. Note how one of them soon has a ring of oil surrounding it and the other has not. Here is the reason.

A mustard seed contains two oils. One is the flavor oil—the other absolutely flavorless. The latter runs out freely when the seed is ground—and offsets much of the richness of the flavor oil. But this flat oil is pressed out and removed from Schilling Mustard and from Schilling Mustard only. So that nothing is left but the flavor. That is why Schilling's has more flavor—and why you use less.

When you read The Register you get the best service on local, county, state and national sports, the field being entirely covered by competent writers and well-trained staff correspondents.

THEIR AGES TOTAL 87 YEARS

Philadelphia has a corner on the pitching patriarchs so it seems, with Jack Quinn, 44-year-old Athletics' star, and Grover Alexander, 43, now of the Phils, ready to begin another season of mound work. The two old "youngsters" were photographed together when the annual spring series between the two clubs began recently in Philadelphia. Quinn is on the left.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

When Kid Chocolate knocked Al Ridgeway in two rounds, he is said to have entered the ring with a temperature of 102. If we keep Scott on the frying pan long enough he may come back and knock 'em all out. Maybe.

That just proves that Germany needs education. Schmeling should have known that the only country in the world that will stand for continual ballyhoo of fighters who are knocking over baloney is this country. We are a bunch of suckers. But the Germans are not yet brought up to the point where they will get hooked and enjoy it.

More track marvels—Claude McWilliams, dusky junior high school boy of San Francisco runs the 100 in 10 1-5, broad jumps 21 feet 10 inches, high jumps five feet 8, and puts the eight-pound shot 49 feet. Which is pretty good for a fellow in short pants.

Trafton was indefinitely suspended by the Missouri boxing commission for failing to put up any semblance of fight against Carnera. And Godfrey may pick up some what of a reputation by following Carnera around and knocking out the Italian's former opponents in still less time. He began with Ace Clark, anyway. And he could knock the rest of them without any trouble, too. So could any fighter who amounted to anything.

EVERETT MARSHALL, 'STRANGLER' READY

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—When Everett Marshall, Colorado grappling sensation, goes to the mat here tonight with "Strangler" Lewis in a finish match, "Dead" Marshall will be in a ringside seat.

The wrestler's father, Claude Marshall, arrived here from La Junta, Colo., last night with eight of his friends to watch the bout.

Victory for Marshall may mean a title bout with Champion Gus Sonnenberg, who has refused to meet the Colorado heavyweight until Marshall has defeated Lewis and possibly Joe Stecher.

Gaels Blanked By Troy Moundsman

OAKLAND, April 16.—St. Mary's college baseball team was blanked by three hits in its encounter with the U.S.C. team yesterday, and lost the tilt to the Southerners, 4 to 0.

George Williamson, occupying the mound for U.S.C., pitched no-hit ball for seven and two-third innings. All four runs scored by U.S.C. were made in the fourth inning.

CHAMPIONS OF LEAGUES SWAT BASEBALL HARD

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 16.—One day old and just starting to prattle idly for its pacifier, the 1930 ball season was only a brat on its mother's knee this morning, yet certain inherited tendencies were beginning to break through the wall of natural reserve that one so young is bound to present to the world. The two best ball clubs in the two best leagues, for one thing, were out in front, thus sustaining the experts' pre-tern. A caveat can go 8 days without water but 24 hours is a long time to sustain an expert.

For another thing, the suspicion that the New York Giants are liable to win no pennants in a very marked manner was emphasized during the day of inaugural. So was the class of the world's champion Athletics; also the hitting of the league-champion Cubs.

The Athletics followed the first principle of success, which says, "beat the good ones." They beat the best one they could find, which happened to be the ex-champion Yankees, 6 to 2. This was mere routine to Mr. Cornelius Mack's ball club which spent a large part of last year beating the ex-champion Yankees, thus acquiring a permanent. The Athletics looked very good behind their ace-pitcher, Mr. Left-hand Grove. Mr. Simmons, their ace-outfielder, signed a contract 10 minutes before the game and then hit a home run off Phipps in 10 second flat, giving the club a two-run lead in the first inning. The Yanks tied it in the third, then the champions went on and won again.

The Cubs got 10 cents' worth of pitching but a million dollars' worth of hitting, so at least this part of it was not unlike 1929, either. They got out in front of the Cards and stayed there to win by 9 to 2, Rhem having nothing except his 1926 record. Poor old doddering Hornsby made only two hits and all he could do was handle four chances perfectly.

Same Old Story
As for the Giants, they merely resumed the business of beating the Braves in the customary manner, this time in the ninth, 3 to 2. Even when winning, the club didn't look good. It appeared at times that all the Braves had to do was hit one in the air and keep running. Marshall, the new second baseman, was plausible in his debut but Rostigier did nothing except throw one resolutely against the stands on a play at the plate. Meantime, Fisher, had blown himself to four hits.

Simmons, of course, stole the show from Ruth over in Philadelphia, although the latter achieved the unique by stretching a home run into two bases. His drive was about to clear the fence, when it smote one of the park's loud speakers right on the larynx and returned to the playing field. Apparently the Athletics didn't have to win this ball game; the Yanks lost it.

The National League furnished most of the competition, each of its four games decided on the basis of one-run finishes.

The Pirates, for instance, lasted to the wire to beat the Reds, 7 to 6, proving that their punch isn't anybody's carcase, even with Traynor and L. Waner out of action.

Phil's Punch Missing
As for the Phillies' reputed punch, it was like an overcoat that somebody has permanently borrowed. It wasn't there. The Phils got only seven hits off Clark but these were enough to beat the Dodgers, 1 to 0, because the things the Phils weren't supposed to have, namely pitching, was exactly the thing they got from Sweetland. He stopped the Dodgers with three hits and won his own ball game with a double. He didn't cover much ground out in right field, however.

The Senators also got a three-hit game from some kid pitcher named Brown, thus restoring the Red Sox to some semblance of order. They lost the game in their old form, 6 to 1, and now, with a percentage of .500, they are ready to go in either direction at a moment's notice. They got as good pitching from Ruffing, however, as the Reds got from Lucas, their star, the latter being unable to get the other boys out. So the Red's new-found punch was wasted. Meusel getting three hits and Helmann two in their first whirl at National league pitching.

Anaheim Alleys To Open Saturday Night

ANAHEIM, April 16.—Opening of the Anaheim Bowling academy, at 226 South Los Angeles street, is scheduled for next Saturday night with six teams competing in sweepstakes, according to an announcement today by the proprietors, Herman Levy and Roy Garrison. Two teams from Santa Ana and one each from Anaheim, Fullerton, Whittier and Riverside will be entered in the opening event which will get under way at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Sunday night six major league teams will roll a special sweepstakes tournament beginning at 8 o'clock. The teams entered are the famous Harold Lloyd's several times Pacific coast champions; Ben Fahy's Fords, another former coast championship aggregation; Enterman Jewellers, "Slim" Oberly's Cafe, Pekomane Recreation and Venice Gondoliers.

George Lackaye's erstwhile Santa Ana Bees and now dignified Orange National leaguers were in full stride toward Pennantville today following their 7 to 5 triumph over La Habra in their first league game last night.

Everett assembled to carry on the Orange franchise, the Santa Anans didn't waste any time getting out in front of the Violet Rays who had the ancient but honorable Jimmy Mansfield left-handing fast ones at them.

Everett Lutz propelled a home run in the first inning and Johnny Lutz singled in the second, later scoring when Pargie hit through short. J. Lutz's single, Warren Sullivan's line on an error, Parvace's fielder's choice and Richards' double gave the Orangemen three more in the fourth, and John Lutz, Richards and Harms all hit safely in

THREAT TO KILL CARNERA'S Foe TOLD AT PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Large crowds attended a theater here today for personal appearances of Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, while California's athletic commission continued investigation of his bout with Leon Chevalier, 216-pound Negro, at Oakland Monday night.

Commissioner Charles Traung, head of the official inquiry, had secured a good sized transcript of testimony about the sixth round victory of Carnera over Chevalier when Bob Perry, who was receiving $50 for administering to the Negro's needs between rounds, threw a towel into the ring.

Included in this record was Chevalier's charge that Perry told him between the first and second round, "I'll kill you if you don't take a kayo punch—I'll blow your heart out."

Churchill Called
Traung announced that among the witnesses he intends to question possibly today, is Frank Churchill, western representative of Carnera.

Churchill readily admitted he sat behind Chevalier's corner during the fight but denied he had talked with Perry between rounds. He added it would have been no offense if he had held a conversation with Perry during the bout.

Churchill said that Carnera would meet Chevalier again, but said that he did not believe the commission would hold up Carnera's purse because the big fellow did not seem to be a party to any conspiracy, but "was in there giving all he had at the time."

Perry's license to act as a second was ordered suspended indefinitely by the commission following the testimony of Chevalier that his life had been threatened if he did not take a kayo punch and after witnesses had testified that had seen Perry talking to Churchill during the fight.

Perry's License Suspended
After the suspension of Perry's license the commission adjourned yesterday without setting a date for resumption of the hearing.

That Chevalier was fighting valiantly and could have finished the 10 rounds was the opinion expressed by Tim McGrath, the Negro's manager, in testifying before the commissioners. McGrath said he was at a loss to ascribe a reason for Perry throwing the towel into the ring two minutes and 15 seconds after the sixth round started.

Chevalier testified he was assured $900 as his end of the purse. He said that Bob Laga, his chief second, told him he could not win the fight.

Chevalier further declared that Perry said to him on his way from the dressing room that "I'd have to lay down." The Negro said he replied, "I won't do it. I am going to do my best to beat Carnera. Between rounds he put grease on my face that hurt my eyes and burned my mouth."

Chinook high school of Chinook, Mont., won 30 consecutive basketball games last season, scoring 1120 points to 484 by their opponents. In every game the Chinook group was led onto the court by nine-year-old Harry McCabe, the team's mascot.

GOLF STAR AND HIS BRIDE

Free golf lessons will be given to Miss Hettie Marie Potts of Columbus, O., by Denny Shute, young Columbus pro who won the Los Angeles and Texas open tournaments during the winter season. Miss Potts is a very close friend of Denny's—in fact she became Mrs. Denny Shute the other day.

ART WORK NOW FIRST INTEREST OF NET QUEEN

NEW YORK, April 16.—A girl who made a reputation on the tennis courts of the world as "Little Miss Poker Face" has been replaced by an affable, enthusiastic young matron who is more interested in art than she is in tennis.

Mrs. Helen Willis Moody of San Francisco is tarrying in New York for a few days before beginning her sweep through European tennis tournaments, culminating in the Wightman cup matches. Yesterday at the Grand Central art galleries she gave her first showing of sketches of prominent tennis players. Twenty of the 29 subjects were sold during the day.

Tennis experts, accustomed to see Mrs. Moody go through her practice games at Forest Hills with icy mechanical precision, were quick to note that this year she is playing a more colorful game. She takes more chances and strokes brilliantly where herebefore she had been content to play cautiously.

Interviewers who found her at the Grand Central galleries saw no reason for calling her "Little Miss Poker Face." Instead of being the reticent, shy girl they have become accustomed to they discovered she would talk freely about tennis, art and her husband, Frederick Moody, the young broker.

"You know," she said, "he never plays tennis, although he is quite good at squash. But I don't play squash so there is little chance for us to have a contest in the family. He is going to take a vacation while I'm here—going sailing down the California coast."

JONES OUT TO SCORE BRITISH GOLF VICTORIES

BY DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 16.—If Robert T. Jones Jr., the laird of the links, doesn't win his first British amateur championship this year, the most surprised man in the world probably will be the competitor he falls to beat, closely followed by ten million others who know golf and play it and love it. Doubtless the least surprised of the lot will be Jones himself. He knows too well the whims and caprices of chance to be impressed in advance with the possibilities of any given man at any time.

He that as it will, Jones either will win this elusive title in 1930 or die in his spiked brogues. The British amateur championship formerly was an incident to him, just another major tournament in a career that was filled with them. This time, it is an event of paramount importance; a definite challenge to his greatness because it is the only big title that has escaped his trophy bag.

Leaves Nothing To Chance
He, therefore, is conducting himself accordingly. Most of Jones' recent winters have been spent first, in study and later in his law office, with golf occupying an obscure background to the exigent demands of business and family.

He averaged less than a dozen rounds of golf through the winter months and often he had to play himself into stroking form in the championship themselves.

He is leaving nothing to chance this time. Everything, in fact, is being checked and certified against the so-called margin of error.

It is only the winter season, for instance, that has seen him play in two open championships, one of which he won by 13 strokes. The other he lost by a stroke to Horton Smith, each bettering par for four rounds by an overwhelming majority. Jones thus has tested his game in the fire of competition and, in consequence, is further along in his preparation at this time than at the last seven years.

Bobby At Peak Of Game
Indeed, Bobby says him shoot 279 for twenty-two holes at Savannah and later win the South-eastern open with 284 on a stiff course are convinced that he is better now than ever he was in his life. Barring the unforeseen, this ought to be much too good for anything the British amateur championship may offer.

Of course, Jones is not fool-proof. He can play a bad round in conjunction with an opponent who plays a good one—with the customary result—but it will be difficult to convince the average camp follower of the game that Jones can be beaten out of any title on which he really sets his mind and heart.

He gives that impression, anyhow, even when he is beaten. Johnny Farrell did it at Olympia Fields in the national open two years ago but the innocent bystanders left

HEMAN PITCHES WELL AS TEAM BUNCHES HITS

The National Night Baseball league's 1930 campaign was less than two hours old before the whole circuit was electrified by a stunning upset, the decisive defeat of Santa Ana's Stars, 1928 champions of Southern California, by the unsung and unheralded but inspired Olive Packers, 5 to 1, at Olive last night.

While dope followed a pretty level course at other points around the confederacy—Anaheim beating Garden Grove, Long Beach winning from Huntington Beach, Whittier shelling Fullerton and Orange humbling La Habra—the entire league realized today it will take a great baseball team to win the championship this summer. The competition is going to be keener than it ever was before.

Olive humiliated Santa Ana by the simple but certain expedient of outplaying the Stars.

Olive Hits Capitalized
Rudy Heman pitched better ball in the pinches than Ray Price and Heman's colleagues hit when hits meant runs while the Santa Ana swatsmiths were popping out or striking out when they had runners lurking on the pathways.

As a matter of fact, the Olive batting was so concentrated that every hit off Price figured in the run-manufacturing. "Long Ray" allowed only six base knocks during his five and two-thirds innings tenure of the turret and all six of them helped produce scores.

On the other hand, the Stars gathered nine safeties off Heman yet their real harvest amounted to one solitary run because Heman was too good for them with men on the bags.

Price Has Bad Innings
Price's two bad innings were the second and fifth. Otherwise he was invincible, not a man reaching a base on him.

Turry started the Olive attack in the second, hitting safely after Fred Guenther grounded out. Rice drew a base on balls. Shell slapped a single into center field and Turry scored from second. Rice going to third and Shell to second on the throw home. Sweet grounded infield and Rice beat Scott's throw to the plate. Shell advancing to third from when he raced home on Heman's infield single.

Another similar outbreak in the third saw the finish of Price. Pitcher Heman started this himself with a single. Walters sacrificed, Scott to Youel, and Arguello was safe when Price fumbled his bunt. Heman reached third on the play and Arguello stole second. Ed Guenther hit a low line drive to right that "Rosie" Merrill, Santa Ana's guardian in that sector, got his hands on but

WHAT AILS GRIMES?
Barney Dreyfuss has traded Burleigh Grimes to the Boston Braves. And we are wondering today what's the matter with Grimes? It's a habit ball players usually fall into when Barney Dreyfuss trades or sells them, the habit of going haywire. The inhabitants remember how Mr. Dreyfuss acquired the services of Mr. Grimes. At least John McGraw remembers, and so sadly.

McGraw had acquired Grimes from Brooklyn in a three-cornered deal in 1927. The mentor of the Giants figured that Burleigh had one more good year in him, and that John McGraw might as well have that year as anybody else.

THAT GOOD YEAR
He did have that good year, winning 19 and losing eight in 1927. At the end of 1927 McGraw figured that the good year was over and done with, and how about this Vic Aldridge, the nifty Pittsburgh pitcher? Mr. McGraw called Mr. Dreyfuss and offered him Burleigh Grimes for Vic Aldridge. Grimes did nothing but have two more years that were among the best in his career. Toward the middle of the season, last year, however, Burleigh was indisposed.

And Vic Aldridge never was any help to the Giants. Now Barney Dreyfuss has traded Grimes to the Braves. Is there something the matter with Mr. Grimes?

THE GLENN WRIGHT CASE
Barney Dreyfuss hasn't always done so well on trades as he did in the Grimes-Aldridge deal, but there are a couple of managers in both leagues who wouldn't trade their bat boys to Barney for Pie Traynor. Pie would be too likely to show up with both arms and legs in plaster casts. It will be remembered that Uncle Robbie sent Mr. Dreyfuss Jesse Petty in a trade for Glenn Wright. And last spring the eighth to produce the two winning runs.

Gene Hitt pitched shutout, hitless ball for the Orange amalgamation until the seventh when Pussie tripped and scored on a wild pitch. A walk and singles by Pussie, Wilkeson, Peterson and Swift gave the Violets four runs in the ninth.

The score:

Orange	7	8	0
La Habra	5	5	3

Batteries: Orange—Hitt and Middlebrook; La Habra—Mansfield and Fiedler.

COLONISTS ROUT MORRILL, BEAT GROVE, 12-2

Driving Earl Morrill to cover in the seventh round, George Pace's dangerous Anaheim Colonists scored an easy and impressive 12 to 2 victory over Garden Grove at Garden Grove last night. Working easily all the way, Joe Ochoa gave the Chilipeppers only five scattered hits.

The Colonists made two in the third, two in the fifth, five in the seventh and three in the ninth. The hitting of George Preble, former Santa Ana, was one of the features. Preble slugged a pair of doubles and a single in six times at bat. Phil Schrott hit three for five. The score:

Anaheim	12	13	1
Garden Grove	2	5	5

Batteries: Anaheim—Ochoa and Wallace; B. Bushman; Garden Grove—Morrill, Hunter and Hapes.

WHITTIER 12-2 WINNER OVER FULLERTON

Fullerton's new night ball team didn't have a chance against the powerful Whittier Quakers, per-season championship favorites, in last night's National league game at Fullerton. Paced by Davis, Moon and McDonnell who bagged homers, Whittier hit safely 12 times and piled up a 12 to 2 victory. The score:

Whittier	12	12	1
Fullerton	2	5	4

Batteries: Whittier—McDonnell and White; Fullerton—Wilhite, Thomas and Davies.

ACORNS BEAT MORNING BY 7 TO 5 SCORE

Making the most of Howard Morning's wildness, the Long Beach Acorns won from Huntington Beach, 7 to 5, at Long Beach last night. Morning walked six and was guilty of eight wild pitches, all of them helping the Acorns make runs. The score:

Huntington Beach	5	10	4
Long Beach	7	4	3

Batteries: Huntington Beach—Morning and Butcher; Long Beach—Litchenwalter and Wilson.

Dates Established For Caliente Golf

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., April 16.—The second annual Agua Caliente $25,000 open tournament, world's richest golf show, will be played January 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The big golf spectacle across the line will follow the Los Angeles $10,000 open, scheduled to close the previous Sunday.

De Mave Vanishes From Fight Scene

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—Jack De Mave, golden-haired Hollander, is the villain, and Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian heavyweight championship aspirant, the hero, in a tragedy staged at the coliseum here last night.

De Mave disappeared after looking the house over and deciding that his 20 per cent cut of the gate receipts would hardly be lunch money for the rest of the week.

April is early to sit two hours in the open but good crowds were reported all around the National league centers at last night's opening games. Close to a thousand spectators saw Olive surprise Santa Ana.

Leavitt Daley failed to put in his appearance at the park and Captain Bill Cole was forced to make some last minute switches in his lineup. He sent Bill Foote to second base and moved "Bono" Koral up in the batting order where Daley was to have followed Wayne Nelson, the cleanup hitter.

Still favoring his injured shoulder, Catcher "Bony" Wilcox spent the evening on the coaching line. He expects to be ready for action next week and may play some Friday night when Fullerton comes to the Bowl at Sixth and Olive streets.

couldn't hold it and it went for a double, Heman and Arguello easily scoring. E. Guenther was nipped trying to stretch his swing into a triple, Merrill to Hitt to Scott.

When Fred Guenther followed with a long single to left Captain Bill Cole brought in Walt Jordan from the "bullpen." Jordan retired Turry on an easy chance at first and pitched high class ball the rest of the route. Rice's safe bunt in the eighth being the only bungle he yielded.

Although they threatened in nearly every inning, the Stars were unable to score only in the seventh when Schuchardt beat out a bunt and was forced at second by Scott. Wayne Nelson then doubled to right and Scott scored all the way from first by smart baserunning.

SANTA CLARA PRIEST TO TELL OF EXPLORATION JOURNEYS IN WHICH SANTA ANAN ASSISTED

Announcement made today of the lecture to be given in the auditorium, next Monday night, by Father Hubbard, S. J., geologist of the University of Santa Clara, on the "Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes," gave many Santa Anans their first information that Frank Klatt, a Santa Ana young man, had accompanied Father Hubbard into this wild region of the north on his trip of research and investigation last summer.

Frank Klatt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Klatt, of East Seventeenth street, and, with two other students in the university, accompanied the expedition to secure motion pictures and scientific records in the region and its strange fumaroles.

Leaving Katmai Beach, on the Alaskan peninsula, the party climbed Mt. Katmai, a slumbering volcano, and entered the vast valley below, comprising a million acres. Once within the mysterious valley, tions in Alaska have gained for him the title of the "glacier priest," will appear in this city under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. While the pictures, which illustrate his address, are said to be among the finest ever secured in this strange valley, they will be doubly interesting in this community, because many of them will show young Klatt in the background. He will be seen warming his hands at one of the fumaroles or steam jets spouting from the floor of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, eating a meal prepared and cooked in the steam escaping from the cracks in the earth, and in many intimate scenes carrying an interesting perspective of this hitherto little known Dante's Inferno on the Alaskan peninsula.

ORANGE

ORANGE, April 16.—Mrs. G. A. Gates and daughter have arrived in Mesa, Ariz., at the home of her son, Clarence. They will visit her son, Carl, before returning, in Mesa, too.

Call Economic Conference On Local Farm Problems

LEADERS WILL CONVENE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Pursuant to a bill passed by the last California legislature, a conference of farm leaders, bankers and legislators has been called for Orange county by the division of agricultural economics of the University of California, Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg said today. The legislature has directed the college of agriculture to make a survey of the economic and credit problems of agriculture in the various sections of the state, he explained.

The Orange county meeting will be held at the Santa Ana cafe on Friday, April 18, at 6:30 p. m. The investigators in charge of the conference include E. A. Stokdyk, C. H. West and M. H. Black, of the division of agricultural economics.

Invitations have been sent out to a number of farm leaders and bankers in the county. Any one interested in the economic problems of the farm is welcome to attend, according to Wahlberg. Reservations for the dinner should be made at the farm advisor's office before Friday.

BAR MEMBERS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Election of officers will be the chief feature of the annual meeting of the Orange County Bar association, which will take place at 6:30 p. m. today at St. Ann's Inn.

It is expected that approximately 50 attorneys from throughout the county will be present. A nominating committee consisting of past presidents will report its "ticket" at the meeting, according to Stanley Reinhaus, of Santa Ana, president of the organization.

Walnut Growers To Hear Report On Cost Studies

The walnut growers' department of the Orange County Farm bureau will meet at 7:30 p. m. today at the office of Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg, who will make a report on the 1929 cost of production studies, which have been carried on in this section.

Those who have co-operated in providing facts and figures for the studies will be welcomed at the meeting. There will be a general discussion of the factors involved in production of quality walnuts in relation to income and yield per acre.

Harry Edwards Is County Director Of Veterans' Aid

Creating the office of a deputy county aid commissioner, the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon appointed Harry Edwards member of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War and prominent in veterans' welfare work here, as county director of veterans' welfare aid. Edwards is to receive a salary of $150 per month.

Toastmasters To Discuss Movies

Members of the Santa Ana Toastmasters club are scheduled to discuss at the meeting of the club to night various angles of the famous movie, "The Menace of the Movies."

Five special speakers have been assigned to discussion of the subject and it is expected that other members will join in a round table discussion of the topic.

The highest suspension bridge in the world has recently been put into operation across the famous Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river. The floor of the bridge is 1053 feet above the stream.

HERE SWIMS THE BRIDE

"Happy the bride that the sun shines on," says the old adage—but what chance has the sun when the wedding is performed under water? That's what happened at the Los Angeles National Boat Show, when Katie Wilson and J. F. Gutrick were married 10 feet under water, with the Rev. Sheldon Shepard officiating. Bride, groom and minister wore diving helmets equipped with microphones, as shown in this picture, taken by a submarine cameraman. However, as the inset indicates, they had to come to the surface and remove their helmets to get in a satisfactory wedding kiss.

PROPOSAL OF SAFETY ZONES AND STOP SIGNS FOR OCEAN SWIMMERS RECEIVES REBUFF

Traffic lanes, speed limits, safety zones and stop signals may appear on the shores of Southland beaches if the spirit of a recently advanced suggestion is carried out along the coast by beach cities.

Although it hasn't met with enthusiastic acclaim along the Orange county coast, in Los Angeles county, the proposal has been made that swimmers be kept within 400 feet from shore, as a safety measure.

If the idea takes hold, venture-some paddlers may be startled to hear sirens scream behind them if they can swim far enough to get 400 feet from shore. For life-guards would be empowered to arrest those who dared out beyond the safety zone.

Stop signs probably would be necessary to remind the speedier navigators of the 400-foot limit, and for those who take a dip at night, stop lights might flash their warning.

But Mayor Marcus Johnson, of Newport Beach, doesn't think this scheme is so hot after all. He is in favor of any proposal to safeguard lives but he confessed that he is rather doubtful about the effectiveness of the 400-foot idea.

"There are some places where it would be dangerous for swimmers to get beyond the 40-foot mark and others where they could go out 800 feet without getting into trouble," he said. He pointed out that safety depends on the depth of the water, currents, tide and location. Although the plan hasn't been considered by the Newport Beach city council, Mayor Johnson indicated his belief that the only way to designate real safety zones would be to rope them off with buoys after danger limits had been ascertained.

PORTUGUESE DOGS Y-BON, April 15.—(UP)—Up in the north of Portugal, at Tabua, the talk of the town is the fact that Senor Antonio Andrade Silva has a dog who is raising a litter of pigs, and Senor Alipio Soares de Campos has another one who is engaged in the same business. And at Aldeia do Mato there's a dog who is raising some rabbits.

There are dust particles even in the purest air, and these cause the blue sky by scattering, dispersing and reflecting the light from the sun.

SCHOOL VIEWS OUTLINED FOR PLACENTIA C. C.

PLACENTIA, April 16.—Ray Adkinson, of Santa Ana, candidate for the position of county superintendent of schools, spoke to members of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Tuesday.

In a short speech, he outlined his ideas of economy, saying that fine buildings were desirable but not necessary, and that to have school-rooms warm, light and airy, was of first importance. He spoke of the administrator's duty as tying together the three groups, parents and children, trustees and teachers.

Harry Von Bruck, evangelist, who is appearing in a series of meetings at Calvary church, spoke on the dual development of the three sides of man—physical, mental and spiritual. He gave examples of people who had trained one side to the exclusion of the others and stated that while young people of today were having physical and mental development, there was a great lack of spiritual and moral development.

D. R. MacDonald, song leader with the evangelist, was present and led in community singing and gave several solo numbers, accompanied by Don Milligan at the piano.

The Rev. Charles E. Fuller, speaking for the committee backing Earl Mathis in the recent grammar school election, stated that the election would not be challenged.

Louis Jacobsen announced that the annexation of the Yorba district to the Placentia district had been ratified.

Fifty-four were present at the meeting and guests were S. W. Smith, of Fullerton; A. Brockman, of Swift and Company; Jack Price, Howard Irwin, Felix Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of La Canada; Harry May, Mrs. T. Pickering, Harold McCabe, Harry Von Bruck, W. R. McDonald, Don Milligan, Celestia Smith and Ray Adkinson.

LEGION AUXILIARY ADMITS 2 MEMBERS

BUENA PARK, April 16.—Applications for two new members Mrs. L. A. Sopha and Mrs. M. R. Speaker, were accepted at the Buena Park American Legion auxiliary meeting Monday night. The president, Mrs. Oscar West, presided over the business session when discussion of many important events was held.

Child welfare is one of the principal phases of work being sponsored by the local unit and as April is National Child Welfare month, a public card party will be given in the Jaynes building, the evening of April 30, proceeds to be used in this work. Tickets can be secured from members of the unit.

The Buena Park and Fullerton units are planning a card party at the U. S. veterans' hospital in San Fernando in May, when cakes, jams and jellies will be taken.

Poppy day will be observed May 24, when the flowers made by war veterans will be sold and the proceeds used for general welfare work.

The district president, Mrs. Ethel Marsh, of Upland, will be a guest at the next meeting, April 28, and will install the new chaplain, Mrs. Edna Jaynes.

SELECT DATES FOR ONE-ACT PLAY CONTEST

With May 1, 2 and 3 definitely announced as the dates for the annual one-act play tournament for which the Santa Ana Community Players' association is sponsor, and with the Temple theater selected as the place for presenting the programs, the local association is rapidly completing plans for making the 1930 event one of the most interesting ever held here.

At the latest meeting of the board of governors, held in the H. B. Van Dien home, 2402 Bonnie Brae, interest was divided between plans for the tournament, and details of the success attained by Ernest Crozier Phillips, director, and his excellent cast, which recently concluded the season with the Shaw play, "The Devil's Disciple." Not only was this play an artistic success, but it was a financial success as well, resulting in the Players closing their season more nearly solvent than at any time in their history.

In discussing the matter, the governing board decided to express publicly its appreciation of the untiring efforts of the workers and Players. These same workers will be called upon to aid in planning for the entertainment of visiting Little Theater groups at the time of the tournament.

Those groups which already have announced that they would enter the tournament are Laguna Beach, Santa Monica, Claremont, Sierra Madre and Hollywood, while others are making plans to enter. The group taking first place in the competition will receive the handsome Emma Otis cup, which must be won three times to become the permanent property of any organization. A cash prize will accompany this cup, and a cash prize will accompany the second prize also, the Samuel A. French plaque. In addition the Santa Ana Players' association will follow the custom inaugurated a year ago, and present a book of plays to the man and a similar gift to the woman, whose individual work is judged to be the best.

F. E. Farnsworth Leases 173 Acres For Oil Drilling

F. E. Farnsworth, vice president of the First National bank, announced today that he had leased 173 acres of oil land, located just east of Huntington Beach, to the Barnsdall Oil company, of Los Angeles, for drilling purposes.

The agreement was signed with a drilling clause which calls for a test well to be sunk within the next four months. The well is to be one of three that will be drilled on the property.

The consideration made for the lease was not made public by Farnsworth.

The property leased is just east of the city of Huntington Beach itself, several acres of it actually being inside the city's limits. All of the property is surrounded by oil wells and is considered proven territory. The test well to be drilled will be of a depth of 6500 feet, Farnsworth said.

COLORADO SURVEY COSTS REVEALED

Los Angeles has spent $1,700,000 in acquiring data on the Colorado river aqueduct, it was revealed yesterday when the department of water and power voted to turn over to the Metropolitan Water district on May 1, all engineering data, maps and equipment acquired by the department in its eight years work of investigation of routes, etc.

The Metropolitan Water district later will reimburse the city of Los Angeles. It was indicated that more than 50,000 square miles of territory between the Colorado river and Los Angeles had been surveyed.

A quarter of a million deaths of children below the age of 15 in a single year is the gruesome toll for the United States.

SPEAKER TELLS ROTARIANS OF EDISON'S LIFE

Walter A. Blossom, director of education for the Southern California Edison company, was the speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Rotary club, at St. Ann's Inn. He discussed the life and work of Thomas A. Edison, particularly in relation to the progress of California. The speech was illustrated by several reels of motion pictures which traced the development of power from the earliest days of man, power down to the present use of hydro-electric energy. William Deimling, local manager for the Edison company, had the program in charge, and presided as chairman.

Special interest attached to the presence of Guy R. Ramsey, a civil engineer of Orlando, Fla., member of the Orlando Rotary club, who was the guest of Earl S. Morrow, and who spoke in greeting from his club to the Santa Ana Rotarians. About a month ago, these two clubs exchanged programs, and a lively friendship has sprung up between them, as a result of this exchange. Ramsey spoke especially of the fine impression made on the people of Orlando by this exchange of courtesies.

Announcements were made by R. T. Dunning about the district conference of Rotary clubs to be held in Oakland May 9 and 10, which a number of local Rotarians are planning to attend.

For next Tuesday's program it was stated that Lieut. John V. Deuel, whose recently published book on aviation is attracting wide notice, is to be the speaker.

Miss Flood Entertains At Shower Luncheon And Bridge

Miss Fern Flood, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood, was hostess yesterday at an especially pretty April shower luncheon honoring Miss Dottie Williams of Fullerton, who is to be a bride early June.

The affair was given in the Flood home, 1802 North Main street, where roses, snapdragons, and mixed flowers in bowls and baskets, created a fragrant atmosphere, and centered the long table at which the luncheon was served. At the card tables, tiny cupid dressed in bridal gowns, were in evidence on the place cards.

An exotic Indian print went to Mrs. Clifford Dieman of Burbank, who held high score in bridge, and two dainty linen handkerchiefs were awarded Mrs. S. Eggers, second high score holder. The lovely shower gifts in their vivid wrappings were presented to Miss Williams by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

Guests for the occasion were Miss Nell Bales, Miss Frances Batty, Miss Velma Miller and Miss Boyd Joplin of this city; Miss Elva Stevens, Miss Dorothy Rasmussen and Miss Williams, the honor guest, of Fullerton; Miss Edna Anderson of Long Beach; Miss May Wade of San Bernardino; Miss Jane Bencheley of Hollywood; Mrs. Clifford Riemann of Burbank; Mrs. S. Eggers of Westwood and Mrs. Clinton Woodruff of Alhambra.

"Orphans" Enjoy Swim At Corona del Mar

Even though laboring under the handicap of absentee parents, none could deny the gaiety of the Santa Ana Junior college Orphan Kiddles, and yesterday their spirits rose unusually high as they enjoyed a beach party at Corona del Mar.

Arriving at the ocean in mid-afternoon, the Orphans dashed into the surf for a swim, and later built a huge bonfire around which they clustered to toast marshmallows and wieners, and in the evening to tell stories and sing. Kirby Todd gave a group of ukulele numbers during the evening.

Those who shared the happy outing were Raymond Gleesner, Kirby Todd, Abbott Mason, Virgil Brown, Norman Woods, Virgil Purvis, Eldon Hermes, Leroy Arnold, Leonard McIntosh, Bill Schooling, Bill Barnett, Lawrence Heide, Jack Sweetnam, Miss Helen Hayes, Miss Hazel Gilbert, Miss Mary McHenry and Miss Helen King.

Well Known Columnist Is Guest Speaker For Ebell

Asserting that "Newspapers are the daily bread of our intellectual lives," Lee Shippey, well-known Los Angeles columnist Monday gave members of Santa Ana Ebell society, a new insight into the value and power of the press when he appeared as guest speaker at the luncheon meeting in the clubhouse, planned by members of the executive board.

Shippey, as "column conductor" on the Los Angeles Times, has gained many followers who enjoy his "Lee Side of L. A." as they had enjoyed his previous verse and other literary output. So his explanations of the value of the press and his account of personal experiences in entering the field, proved most interesting.

He pointed out the far-reaching powers of the press, declaring that where approximately 28 millions of people were today reached by the schools of the country, that was a small number in comparison with those reached by newspapers. He asked the assembled women to remember that it was through the daily reading of the papers, that they were able to follow national and international affairs, and advanced the opinion that the men at the head of such big news organizations, were largely actuated by desires to present things clearly and honestly.

Even the lowliest of reporters came in for his recognition, giving the traveler-lecturer-poet opportunity to interpolate one of the interesting bits of verse which added charm and novelty to his talk. Among these poems, the one regarding "The pants that mother used to make" created much laughter, but the most interesting of all was the charmingly intimate account of his homecoming each evening, with three little boys running down the block to meet him. "This poem was written several years ago," Shippey explained, "in the meantime the stock has visited us twice more, and now it is Sylvia who brings up the rear with her cries of 'Dada,' and the parade reaches a block and a half!"

In his informal talk at the luncheon table where he was seated between Mrs. Robert G. Tutthill, society president, and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, chairman of the program committee, he regaled those seated near him with unusual episodes of his travels in Mexico.

The luncheon tables were unusually lovely with their artistic arrangement of spring blossoms in a rainbow of colors, and the menu served by the official board members was quite delicious, making the affair one of the pleasantest of the year.

The women were asked to remain in the peacock room for the business session which succeeded the talk, and in which the most important feature was the election of delegates and alternates to the eighteenth annual convention of the Orange County Federation of Women's club in Huntington Beach, Friday, April 25.

Miss Louise Tubbs was named chairman of the group of delegates composed of Mesdames Charles Marbhe, William Smart, M. C. Maloney, W. W. Anderson, Loyal K. King, W. L. Delming, E. H. Guthrie, W. H. DeWolfe, M. M. Holmes, F. H. Paterson, Victor Montgomery, J. L. Allen, Robert Currie, L. K. Strong, Reeves Ayler, J. E. Goven, H. B. Van Dien and Miss Martha Ritchey. Alternates selected were Mesdames F. P. Jayne, Philip Hatfield, E. B. Sprague, C. E. Blacow, C. V. Newman, Wyckoff Hoxie, Alice Hill Hatch, H. T. Truethood, John Ball, W. P. Baker, J. T. Wilson, Alex Brownridge, M. D. Borgmeyer, O. S. Catland, C. S. Dunphy, F. W. Slabaugh, Mit Phillips, S. M. Davis and Hugh Shields.

Mrs. Joseph B. Thurston of Laguna Beach, president of the county federation, was a special guest, and gave a brief but interesting greeting to the clubwomen. Coming events of interest were called to attention. Mrs. Paterson outlined the plans for the Sixth Household Economics section's hospitality on Monday, April 21, when a demonstration of electrical appliances will be held. The Southern California Edison company is co-operating with the section in staging this, which will be open to Ebell members and their friends. Items of the meal to be prepared on the latest model electric range, will go as prizes, while two modern electrical appliances will also be given as prizes, although the stove itself will not be included in the gifts as was first announced, but is for demonstration purposes alone.

Louis Browne, author of "This Believing World," will be the attraction of April 28, and on the following day the May Flower festival will open, to continue until May 1. Mrs. J. T. Wilson of the Garden section, asked for donations of plants and bulbs for this event, to be given to the Mexican women of the city who will be entertained as Ebell guests on one afternoon. On Thursday afternoon, the concluding day of the event, the Fifth Household Economics section will stage a public card party in connection with the festival.

Elaborate plans made by members of Santa Ana Women's club for an April garden party, reached their fruition yesterday when Mrs. W. C. Watkins' charming home, "White Gables," on North Ross street was opened for one of the spring functions with which she has so frequently welcomed the members of this and other organizations.

The airy sun room was selected for the scene of the program, and its cool green interior formed a perfect background for the vases, bouquets and baskets of red and white flowers, stock, iris and various other blossoms offered delicate shadings in the lovely tones of violet.

With Mrs. James C. Clark at the piano, the members joined in their opening ode, after which the president, Mrs. William Whitehead, conducted a brief business meeting, and presented various distinguished clubwomen of county and district. Mrs. Joseph Thurston of Laguna Beach, president of the county federation; Mrs. W. J. Kinley of Highland, district chairman of institutional relations; Mrs. Walter Kogler of Orange, county chairman of music, and the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Marcus W. Robbins of San Diego, president of the district federation, were among these important guests.

Mrs. Kogler added two charming solos to the program, with Mrs. Cole at the piano. Her numbers were "Friend O' Mine" and "The Second Minuet."

Mrs. F. H. Marks, president of the Past Presidents' association of the hostess club, introduced the members of that organization who were present, and who included Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh, Mrs. Anna Gale, Mrs. Mary E. Stanley, Mrs. R. Ruth Tiffany, Mrs. James C. Clark, Mrs. F. H. Finney, Mrs. Walter Moore and Mrs. M. C. Williams.

Mrs. Myers of Costa Mesa brought greetings from the Costa Mesa Women's club; Mrs. W. H. Kuhn, president-elect of the hostess club, spoke briefly, presenting a group of new members; and Mrs. Mills, a teacher at the County Health camp, told of the day's activities of the 30 children now there.

Mrs. Thurston, in her charming manner, brought many cheerful new thoughts to her hearers, and closed her inspirational talk with the song, "There Little Girl, Don't Cry," and a reading, "The End of the Play."

Mrs. Tiffany of the program committee, presented Mrs. Robbins, who explained the workings of the Foundation fund of the general federation, a subject in which clubwomen are deeply interested. She pointed out how the expenses of the general federation had kept pace with the increased cost of living, and explained how the idea had started to create a large fund of money, the interest of which was to be applied to these necessary expenses. Each member of every federated club in the United States, is to be given a small box which holds 365 pennies, one for each day in the year. Of this amount, $1.25 will go to the general federation, which the remainder may provide a working fund for the individual club.

The clubs have two years in which to decide to raise this amount, and no clubwoman is obliged to conform to the plan, according to the speaker, who thus clarified a point upon which there had been little information. Mrs. Whitehead later called attention to the fact that she had the banks for distribution among the members who wish to adopt the plan.

For the remainder of the afternoon, the women were directed to their opening ode, after which the lovely garden, where Mrs. Watkins had arranged a pretty table near the wall fountain, for the serving of fruit punch and small cakes. Mrs. William West and Mrs. William Casteler, members of the refreshments committee, presided at the punch bowl. The guests were privileged to wander through the garden, where a wealth of flowers bloomed in all the colors of the rainbow. Especially attractive were the camellias in delicate pink, flaming red and variegated tones.

Plans were made Monday evening at the meeting of the Royal Neighbors to attend the district convention of Southern California which will be held in Culver City tomorrow. A bus has been chartered to carry those going and will leave at 9 a. m.

Members of the Santa Ana camp will have charge of the memorial service during school of instruction, and in the evening present their drill team in an elaborate drill.

Each member will wear an ankle length orchid frock with ruffled skirt, and will carry an orchid parasol. There are 16 members in the team besides the flag bearer and the musicians. Last year the convention was held in Long Beach with about 600 in attendance.

At the Monday meeting, four new members, Mrs. Ida Tension, Mrs. Gladys Jewsee, Mrs. Goldie Cornett and Dean C. Lamb, were initiated.

The cost of gasoline for running a light car is about 22 per cent of the total cost per mile. In a heavy car it is about 15 per cent.

Germans have developed a farm tractor powered with a Diesel motor in which almost any kind of heavy oil can be used for fuel.

Spring Garden Party Brings Clubwomen Together

"Straw Hats" Topic of Clever Discussion

Employees of Vandermast's Clothing store held their regular monthly dinner meeting in Ketter's cafe last night. Baskets of vivid spring blossoms were used as table decorations.

Carl Stein, manager, gave the address of the evening, speaking on "Straw Hats." In order better to familiarize the employees with the type of merchandise which they are selling, it is the custom of the club to have a speaker each month on some leading item, and Mr. Stein explained the making, selling and varieties of straw hats in an interesting talk.

Those who attended the meeting were: Walter Vandermast, E. T. Mateer, Carl Stein, A. L. Jones, M. C. Vandermast, W. B. McConnell, C. A. Spurrier, Ray Fisher, Robert Hatfield, R. G. Carman, A. R. Lundstedt, Mrs. Celia Vandermast, Mrs. Juanita Atwood and Mrs. C. Brucke.

Original Manuscripts Provide Program at Club Meeting

Manuscripts on a variety of themes and roll call on the subject of Easter, made last night's meeting of the Quill Pen club most interesting for the members when they enjoyed the hospitality of their newest member, Miss Dorothy Clarkson, in her home at 801 Minter street.

Mrs. John Clarkson assisted her daughter in greeting the club members, and remained to enjoy the varied program. When the president, Mrs. Frank Was, called the roll, the Easter responses expressed different moods, some of the members presenting the joyousness of the season in clever verse, others stressing the sacred significance.

"Germania," the subject of the story by Mrs. S. B. Marshall, introduced an original theme whose working out by the author, provoked a spirited discussion. Miss Lella Watson followed with another of her subtly humorous tales of college life at "X U." "The Normal Curve," and Mrs. Was completed the program with an other chapter from the novel whose development is of much interest to the club as a whole.

Everybody gathered around the cheerful blaze of the open fire to discuss the different manuscripts, while Miss Clarkson, assisted by her mother, their houseguest, Mrs. Moulton Youngblood of Los Angeles, served a delicious little supper in two courses.

Mrs. Youngblood, Miss Alan Tantis and Mrs. Clarkson formed the special guests present, while Quill Pen members included Mrs. Maude Goff, Mrs. Frank Was, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Miss Lella Watson, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. J. U. Vlau, Eleanor Young Elliott and the hostess, Miss Dorothy Clarkson. Among the absent members was Mrs. Herman Reuter, who sent her greetings and her assurance that she would be present at the next meeting, having made a good recovery from a recent serious operation.

Mrs. Harnois will entertain the club in two weeks, at which time roll call will consist of newspaper clippings which contain the germ of a story or novel.

Sup'n Chatter Meets At Turton Home

Mr. and Mrs. John Turton were hosts last night to the members of the Sup'n Chatter club, with a bridge dinner at their home, 1045 West Chestnut street.

The dinner was served at the small card tables, and bouquets of sweet peas and iris vied in their beauty with a tall Easter lily plant as decorations of the home.

During the evening, high score and first prizes went to Kenneth Stowe and Mrs. Carl Wiesseman and low to Mrs. Ray Montgomery.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turton were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wiesseman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Gowdy and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Montgomery.

Mrs. Lewis Honored At Luncheon and Bridge Party

Mrs. Walter Wright of 1022 West Sixth street, was hostess yesterday at a delightful luncheon planned as a compliment to Mrs. W. G. Lewis who was recently installed as worthy high priestess of the White Shrine and who will leave within two weeks for Columbus, O., to attend the White Shrine convention.

Purple and yellow and green, the colors significant of the Easter season, were used in floral and table decoration. A handsome Easter rabbit centered the luncheon table and place cards were found to be chocolate Easter eggs with the individual names of the guests listed on them.

Mrs. Wright was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. George Shippey and Mrs. Alma Smith.

Following the dainty luncheon, three tables were laid for bridge and at the close of the card tournament Mrs. Lewis was high score holder. Mrs. Marie Beisel was second high and Miss Henrietta Bohling was consoled. Each was the recipient of an attractive gift.

Guests were Mrs. Alvin Nowotny, Mrs. W. G. Lewis, Mrs. Judson Sutherland, Mrs. Henry Walters, Mrs. Willa Patterson, Mrs. James Vinson, Mrs. Neal Beisel, Mrs. William McConnell, Mrs. John Kettler, Mrs. J. O. Eyle, Mrs. Charles Ryan and Miss Henrietta Bohling.

Holy Week Programs Will Be Held in Y. W. Rooms

With Wrycende Maegden and Business and Professional Women's club members as sponsors, a short devotional period will be observed at mid-day tomorrow and again on Good Friday, in observance of Holy Week. The idea originated with the young women of the Wrycende Maegden club, who asked the co-operation of the B. and P. W. members in their plan.

The program each day will be short, with perhaps twenty minutes devoted to instrumental and vocal music, inspirational poetry, etc., and the remainder of the time given to quiet meditation, leaving ample time for luncheon.

Anyone who may wish to join in the affair, will be welcomed at the noon hour.

Book Review Section Hears Discussion Of Noted Book

Mrs. Perry Lewis shared her lovely Tustin home yesterday with the members of the First Book Review section of Santa Ana Ebell society. Colorful spring flowers were used about the home.

The diary of Countess Tolstoy, wife of the great author, was reviewed by Mrs. Loyal King. The Countess, who was the mother of nine children, poured out her emotions and entrusted her most sacred thoughts to her diary, which is complete in two volumes.

Mrs. King pointed out the 16 years' difference in the ages of the Count and Countess Tolstoy, and discussed the fact that their whole married life was colored by a single incident. "The Countess' girlhood had been sheltered and quiet; Tolstoy was a wanderer and philosopher in his youth. On the eve of their marriage, he forced his young wife to read his complete diaries and the horror of the girl toward his past was reflected throughout their life together.

Tolstoy's sudden change in religion was also discussed in the diaries, in a frank fashion.

At the close of the review, Mrs. Lewis was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Miss Inez Cloyer. Mrs. S. A. Moore, who also served on the hostess committee, was unable to be present. About 20 members attended the meeting.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Garden section of Ebell society will meet at the clubhouse tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock and during the business session, final plans for the May Flower festival will be made, according to Mrs. W. L. Salisbury.

The Women's "Gymnasium" class which meets in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Thursday, will be cancelled tomorrow, when the only feature will be the swimming class from 9 to 10:15. In making this announcement, Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. secretary, also called attention to the fact that there would be no children's class Saturday because of vacation week.

SUNSET BEACH

SUNSET BEACH, April 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Carter L. Dean have as their guests during Easter vacation, Lionel Wilson and Dean Alexander, of St. Catherine Military academy, Anaheim, and Mrs. Margaret Dean and Jack Neeson, of Los Angeles.

Jack Whitney and family, of Hollywood, are occupying their beach cottage for the week.

Ed Hazen, of Los Angeles, who recently purchased a lot on Bay View drive, is erecting a four-room house and garage. They expect to spend most of the summer here.

J. Sheeley Jr., who for the past six months has been in Pasadena, is now staying with his father.

Social Climbers Pave a Way to Inner Circle

(The seventh of a series of articles by Margaretta Roberts who has been social secretary in the homes of some of the country's wealthiest families.)

This Newport man was a great friend of a dowager, also of Newport, whom I served for a time. Always rich, always on the inside socially, the old dowager was the antithesis of the social climber. With a fortune of $50,000,000 of her own she had married a comparatively poor man, worth only $30,000,000. He must have felt the discrepancy in their positions because he was the quietest, most humble man I ever met.

The establishment where this couple lived part of the year contained 30 bathrooms. All the plumbing was gold plated. Besides this place, the dowager had a suite of rooms at a smart New York hotel which cost her $48,000 a year. At this particular hotel there were two eight-room suites to a floor, and she rented both, though she furnished only one, because, she explained, she did not want anyone's sharing her floor.

In another city she had a hotel suite which she held by the year at a rental of $25,000, and she had a house in Paris, one in Washington, a villa at Newport and also at Bar Harbor, a cottage at Aiken and she rented a place at Saratoga for August.

Much of the time I was a regular advance agent for her. Before she went to Newport, for instance, I preceded her by a week, hired the servants, installed the liquor, made arrangements with all the tradespeople and had the place in order, even to flowers in the vases. When she arrived on the scene, she would step from her private train into her own motor car and come into a home that was just as completely equipped as the one she had left.

Custards For Spring Desserts

Spring brings with its sunny days an aversion to the meat well-comed on winter menus. Yet, to be top-hole, sufficient protein must find its way into the meal some way.

How about old-fashioned baked custard for dessert, well chilled, and served with a spoonful of currant jelly or whatever fresh fruit is in season? A well made custard is quite the nicest and most delicate dessert one can ask for, and a leathery custard floating in whey is an abomination and inexcusable.

If you will observe the simple rules given here, there will be no custard catastrophes to your credit. First of all the ingredients:

For individual custards use one egg to each cup of milk, for a large dish of baked custard increase the number of eggs to three eggs to two cups of milk. The next thing is the oven—it must be rather cool, 275 degrees F. is a good heat, the custards must be baked sitting in a pan of hot water and this water must NEVER approach the boiling point. When the edges of the custard are just jelled, the centers still liquid, turn off all heat and let the custards finish making while the oven cools.

BAKED CUSTARD

4 eggs, well beaten
4 cups rich milk, heated
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Few gratings of nutmeg on top

Beat eggs, sugar and salt together, pour over the hot milk, stirring as you pour. Have the moulds ready in a pan of WARM, not boiling, water, and have a bit of butter in each mould. Pour in the custard mixture and make as directed. Chill before serving. Eight small custards will result, and each will have about 170 calories to its credit, two-thirds of which are proteins.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Tasty Sandwich Filling
1 medium can red salmon, finely flaked
4 hard cooked eggs, chopped
6 small sweet pickles
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Cooked salad dressing to mix.

A tangy, mustard-flavored, cooked dressing is a necessity for this filling. Mayonnaise is too oily with the salmon.

Open and drain the can of salmon. Discard bits of skin and bones, and flake finely. Put away to chill until ready to use. At sandwich-making time combine the filling in this order: put chopped eggs, chopped sweet pickles and walnuts into a bowl and mix with two forks, add the salmon, salt and pepper and the cooked dressing in small quantities until the filling is mixed to the right spreading consistency. Spread on buttered whole wheat bread, add a bit of crisp lettuce, cut in triangles and serve before the filling becomes flat.

Another Delicious Filling
Over hot water put 1/2 cup of peanut butter, one-half cup orange juice and two tablespoons lemon juice to heat so that the peanut butter can be smoothly blended. Cool and mix with one package of seeded raisins, washed, dried, and put through the grinder.

A full sandwich using either filling has calorie value of 350. Many energy units will be found in such sandwiches.

Two courses with coffee, the subject of this week's leaflet, will interest a host of women, I am sure. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the free copy of this leaflet offered this week only.

Tomorrow, we will get out the deep-fat-frying kettle and make a delicious Norwegian cookie, called Fauttemon. Have some Cardamom seed on hand for these cakes. They have a spicy, gingery flavor.
ANN MEREDITH.

Silver Medal Contest Proves Success For W. C. T. U.

Mrs. J. W. Schwab was the winner of the Matron's Silver Medal contest in the Reformed Presbyterian church Monday night under the auspices of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union. The twenty-fourth Psalm was the scripture used by the winner, who presented the subject with an original introduction. It was the first attempt of its kind that Mrs. Schwab ever has made. Judges of the contest were F. R. Cline, Miss Edna Hearn and S. L. Harrell. Five other contestants were featured on the program and were representatives of the United Presbyterian, Reformed Presbyterian, Baptist, Richmond Avenue Methodist and Christian and Missionary Alliance churches. Their names as well as the subject they presented, as it is expected that they will enter a similar event in the near future, as eleven contests have to be staged by the local union.

Mrs. C. D. Hicks, contest director of the local Union, urges anyone interested in entering other W. C. T. U. speaking contests, whether children or adults, to send their names and addresses to her. She arranged the contest last night. The Hurd orchestra furnished the music for the program and throughout the evening, while the quartet from the King's Daughters of the Reformed Presbyterian church, gave several vocal selections. Sol Gonzalez, Spanish violinist, accompanied by Miss Delfino Lopez at the piano, played "Es-trellita" and "Morir Por Tu Amor." Miss Ina Gregg gave a reading entitled "Old Cider Mill."

Guests were Dr. Clark, Dr. A. E. Chase, Dr. W. C. Mayes, Dr. H. G. Huffman, Dr. Will Flood, Dr. Bessie Martell, Miss Crystal Talley, Mrs. Gail Ray, Mrs. Marie Grady, Miss Ethel Richardson, Miss Gertrude Shaffer, Mrs. Mary Jo Nelson, Miss Martha Barclay, A. V. Cox, Mervin Johns and A. Hedge.

Beauceant

Mrs. Fred Dillenbeck, of Eldorado, Kans., who is supreme worthy president of the Social Order of Beauceant, was the special guest at the local Beauceant luncheon held at 1 o'clock today at St. Ann's Inn. She was to be in attendance at the meeting convening at 10 a. m. at the Masonic temple, according to announcement made yesterday by Mrs. John Wesley Hancock.

The program staked at the luncheon featured musical selections by three of Santa Ana's popular artists, Miss Allen Lair, pianist; Edward Burns, cello, and James Sewell, baritone.

The wedding, while not unknown to the parents of the young people, was a complete surprise to their many friends here. Mr. Dana and his wife will reside with his mother in this city. Dana was graduated from the schools of San Jose. He is now connected with the Southern Counties Gas company and has been a resident in Santa Ana for the past year.

ALL-STAR CAST IN 'MURDER ON ROOF'

Every person who attended the opening of "Murder on the Roof," Columbia's all-talking mystery thriller, which opened yesterday, had his share of unexpected thrills. The cast is practically an all-star one, and each player handles the work entrusted to him so effectively that it is difficult to praise one above the other. George B. Seitz has shown a rare appreciation of dramatic values in his direction and Columbia has been lavish from the standpoint of production.

William Haines, whimsical comedian of the screen, turns to thrills, heart throbs and romance in his latest role of the silver sheet, in "Speedway." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular drama of the auto race track, filmed at the Indianapolis races. You'll laugh—you'll thrill—and you'll adore William Haines and Anita Page.

MYSTERY AT WEST COAST ENDS TODAY

"The Benson Murder Case," one of the most famous of the S. S. Van Dine mystery murder stories, now an all-talking Paramount production, completes a three-day run at the Fox West Coast theater today.

With William Powell, the screen's greatest detective, in the role of Philo Vance, amateur detective, E. H. Calvert is New York's district attorney, and Eugene Pallette as Sergeant Tenth, these same characters as were seen in "The Green Murder Case" and "The Canary Murder Case," are brought back to the screen.

Anthony Benson, a high powered Wall street operator, sells out several of his friends when the stock crash comes. Four persons have reason to kill him, and when he is murdered in his mountain lodge at a time when all four are there, suspicion falls on all of them. How Vance unravels the mystery, arresting the murderer even after someone else has confessed to the crime, is the highlight of the story. Charlie Chase in his latest all-talking comedy, "Fifty Million Husbands," a Fox Movietone news reel and a Pathe Audio review also are on the program.

LUPE VELEZ STARS IN BROADWAY FILM

Lupe Velez is seen and heard in her latest all-talking picture, "Hell Harbor," a dynamic story of the adventures of a pirate queen, playing at the Fox Broadway theater. The picture opened there Monday and plays through Thursday night. A different kind of story from most pictures seen here this year, the plot is based on the life of a young girl, daughter of one of the whites on the island. Her father, Harry Morgan, is a pirate black-guard, in partners with Joseph Hornogold, a trader in pearls. Hornogold already has beaten Morgan out of his pearls when the picture opens and is angling for the daughter, whom he hopes to marry.

A young Alaskan pearl buyer arrives on his boat and Hornogold and Morgan plan to murder him and steal his money. The girl falls desperately in love with the American and manages to save him. In turn he saves her life from her pirate father.

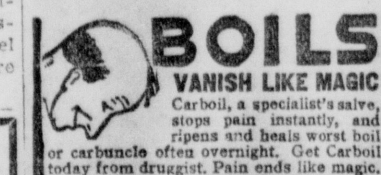

Greedy, hate and love mingle throughout a plot that will hold an audience spellbound. It is Miss Velez's best picture, and entertainment that will be remembered here for some time to come. An all-talking comedy, a Krazy Kat cartoon with sound and a Fox Movietone news reel also are shown.

'SHIPS OF NIGHT' AT TEMPLE TODAY

"Ships of the Night" is the feature that heads the bill tonight and tomorrow night at Shelley's Temple theater.

"Ships of the Night," from the book by the same title, is a thrilling romance of life below the equator. It is brim full of action and comedy, not to overlook some very interesting accounts of pirating activities that supply plenty of suspense.

The picture stars Jacqueline Logan, and in the supporting cast are Sojin and Arthur Rankin. Also, tonight is country store and gift night at Shelley's, it being the regular Wednesday night feature.

SANTA ANA

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Travel Man exclaimed, "Well, gee, I think that this place just suits me. We ought to get a real good sleep and it will do us good. The hay is soft and feels just right. I'm going to sleep now, so good night. You may not like this bed, but I have done the best I could."

"Oh, we are tickled," Scouty said. "This hay's much better than a bed. It's nice and soft and I am sure that we will all sleep sound. Real early, with the break of day, we'll wake and hop out of this hay. There's plenty to be seen and you'll be glad to look around."

So all the bunch went right to sleep and all night long came not a peep. At daybreak Scouty gave them all a very sudden scare. "Get up! Get up!" he loudly cried. "You'll find me running 'round outside. I know 'twill fill me full of pep to breathe the morning air. The whole bunch soon were on their feet and Chippy said, 'When do we eat?' The Travel Man just smiled and said, "We'll eat right on the farm." And, sure enough, they had their fill. They ate and ate and ate until wee Carpy said, "We'd better stop or it will do us harm."

When they were on the road again they saw a cart pass now and then. "Twas usually just a tiny one, but big enough for four. Soon all the Tines hopped a ride. The Travel Man then loudly cried, 'cause that's where we're heading for."

A lot of pretty sights were seen. The grass and fields were very green. And then they met a milk maid and she smiled upon the bunch. Right soon she gave them all a drink. "You're very, very kind, I think," said Scouty. "This big cup of milk's as good as any lunch."

Cost Of Improving Fullerton Water System $99,190

CITY COUNCIL GIVEN REPORT FROM EXPERTS

FULLERTON, April 16.—Plans for improving the Fullerton water system at a cost of $99,190 were submitted to the Fullerton city council last night by Chester E. Smith of the firm of Burns, McDonnell and Smith, employed to investigate the deficiencies and make recommendations for the expansion program.

According to the report submitted by Smith, the present water supply is adequate for the next 10 years, according to estimates although the distribution system is inadequate and recommendation was made to install larger distributing mains in various sections of the city to supply more pressure where it is not now available, due to the fact that the friction in the small mains uses up the pressure and in some sections insufficient pressure for fire protection and even for domestic purposes is not available.

Of the 44 miles of mains in the city, approximately 80 per cent consists of mains of four inches or smaller. It was also recommended to assist in supplying pressure where not now available. Levels in the city range from 8 feet to 450 feet, it was pointed out in the report, thus necessitating more expense in gaining a pressure in the higher sections of the city.

Installation of a cushion check valve on the 16-inch main on Spadra road was recommended in the report so that in case of a break in the line, the water would be kept in the system.

Details of the report will be studied by the city council in connection with the citizens' water committee, which will make a recommendation to the city regarding the matter of proceeding with the plans as recommended by Smith. Smith stated that he will meet with the citizens' committee and will discuss details of the report in the near future so that any project contemplated by the city of Fullerton might proceed as soon as possible.

S. A. Men Acquire Spanish Village Garage Business

SAN CLEMENTE, April 16.—William McGowan and E. W. Forder, of Santa Ana, have purchased Vernon's San Clemente garage on the State highway in the Strang-Swartz building and have taken charge. They announce that the name will be changed to State Highway garage.

Forder was formerly foreman for O. A. Haley, Inc., and McGowan was connected with the Orange County garage before coming to the Spanish village.

PRIZES OFFERED TO STUDENTS IN BEACH EVENTS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Many of the college students here for Collegiate week have been practicing nightly for the dancing contests to be held here tonight and tomorrow night, while students and others are waiting for their week end, when other competitions will be staged.

A prize fox trot will be a feature of the program tonight at the Rendezvous ballroom, which has been open all week. Collegiate week marking the opening of the enlarged dance palace. Tomorrow evening the Newport pavilion, Newport, which is now under the management of Gustave Picard, of Los Angeles, will stage an old-time waltz contest. Prizes for these two events will be given by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

Saturday afternoon canoe races will be held in front of the Balboa pavilion for both male students and co-eds of the various universities and colleges represented among the Easter vacationists.

On Sunday a big Easter egg hunt, with several prizes up, will take place on the ocean sand in front of the two blocks between Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets, Newport Beach. The hunt will start at 10 a. m. the eggs being placed in the sand just before that hour Sunday.

Two fishing prizes will be given for the biggest fish caught by anybody at the Newport and Balboa piers, respectively, up to and including Sunday afternoon. Contestants must have their catches weighed and certified at either George Hiner's bait stand on the outer end of the Newport pier or at Cliff Von Kennel's tackle store at Balboa.

Two High School Students Escape Injury In Crash

BUENA PARK, April 16.—Orville Johnson, of Highland avenue, and "Blackie" Robinson, of West Ninth street, two Fullerton union high school boys, had a narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday in an accident at the corner of Grand and Sixth streets. The car which belongs to Johnson's father, Earl F. Johnson, turned a complete somersault and was demolished. The boys escaped with minor cuts and bruises which were treated at the office of a local physician.

TITLE TO LAND IN LANSOWNE AREA ACCEPTED

FULLERTON, April 16.—A resolution accepting title to land to be used for street purposes in the Lansdowne territory recently annexed to the city was passed by the city council last night. Deeds to rights of way for improvement in the section were also accepted in the resolution.

Two other resolutions accepting plans and specifications for improvement in the Lansdowne territory of the council to form an improvement district were passed by the council. May 6 was set as a day to hear any objections to the formation of such an improvement district. The plans and specifications were for water systems and sewer improvement in the new territory. Work on the improvement in that section will begin as soon as possible, it was reported by City Engineer C. M. Thorpe.

The matter of obtaining power from the Boulder dam project was discussed in a report from City Lighting Superintendent Grover L. Walters, who recommended that the city council pass a resolution indicating its desire of obtaining power in order that the department of interior may have an expression from the municipalities in Southern California interested in the project. It was pointed out by Walters that the city is not bound to take such power unless it is so desired. He stated that the contract for the power will be presented to the council to accept or reject next year. The resolution was adopted by the council.

Appreciation for the co-operation of the council in brightening street lights in the business district of the city and lighting those lamps which had not previously been lighted was expressed in a communication from the Chamber of Commerce. The increasing of the power in the lamps was made possible with little extra cost to the city by the new rates for lighting.

Request for a contour map of a portion of the city park on North Harvard avenue in the section known as the Hillcrest park in which the Ebelle club as well as other community organizations are considering constructing buildings for public activities was made in a communication from the Ebelle club. It was pointed out by the council that at the present time the city engineer is preparing a contour map of the whole park and will co-operate with the club.

A plea for assistance of the city in an effort to eradicate the city from housing which is declared to be a detriment to the welfare of the communities made in a communication received from the League of California Municipalities which is sponsoring a move to promote more sanitary conditions in the community. Co-operation of the city was assured by the council.

The council adjourned to a special meeting which will be held next Monday evening for special business of the board. The special meeting is called for 7:30 p. m.

REDUCE IS AMBITION
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 15.—(UP)—The immediate ambition of Edith Mason, Chicago Civic Opera star, is to reduce 10 pounds before leaving America for a month's engagement in London. She weighs 148 pounds or "thereabouts," she says.

TWO NEW INDUSTRIES SEEN FOR BUENA PARK DISTRICT; LIGHT SYSTEM PROJECTED

BUENA PARK, April 16.—Buena Park may secure two new industries in the near future, according to information given at the chamber of commerce meeting Tuesday evening. A site has been donated on Grand avenue for a manufacturing concern which would employ 60 women and negotiations are now under way to secure it.

Jack Golden, chairman of the lighting committee, was instructed to have a petition prepared to circulate for the extension of the lighting district south to Chester road, west to Scales street and east to Dale avenue.

A report was made on the new electric street signs and C. H. Morlarty, W. D. Cannon and O. A. Stone, were delegated to secure further data.

J. F. Simpson, road supervisor, reported that the county is working on the extension of Scales street south 500 feet, and the bridge is being extended and the old street widened 10 feet, making a 40-foot street. The water district is also putting in a circulating line on Scales street.

Jack Golden, vice president, will attend the opening of the Ford assembly plant in Long Beach, April 21 and the dinner at the Pacific Coast club as delegate from the local chamber.

The president, secretary and directors will be guests of the Fullerton chamber at a banquet meeting of the official boards of the seven northern Orange county chambers of commerce in McFarland's cafe in Fullerton April 25.

W. H. Whitmore, W. D. Cannon and O. A. Stone were appointed on a committee to confer with H. T. Warren and the sanitary, water and fire boards in reference to holding a housewarming when the new community building on Ninth street near Grand avenue is completed.

WALNUT COSTS TO BE REVIEWED HERE
A special meeting of Orange county walnut growers will be held in Santa Ana Wednesday evening, to discuss and review the costs involved in walnut production during the past year. Figures will be presented from Orange, Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, showing the effect of various degrees of cultivation, irrigation and pest control on yield, quality and income to the grower.

The Orange county group showed an average yield of 1330 pounds per acre last year as compared with 1139 pounds for Los Angeles county and 1127 pounds for San Bernardino county.

The total cost of production per acre averaged $257.17, which included all labor, material and overhead costs. An analysis of all costs will be presented by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg for Orange county, and Marston Kimball for Los Angeles county.

Anyone interested in walnut costs is invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at the farm advisor's office, 606 North Main street, Santa Ana, at 7:30 o'clock.

Service Station, Flower Shop For Midway City Lot

MIDWAY CITY, April 16.—The 61 by 130 foot lot at the corner of Huntington Beach boulevard and Madison street has been purchased through Ed L. Hensley, local realtor, by Ray McCormick, of Liberty Park tract and ground is being broken for a new service station. McCormick is to build an attractive station of white stucco and red tile roof and expects to be open for business before Memorial day.

It is McCormick's plan to erect a residence of Spanish style on the same lot, facing Madison street and he and his family will move here from Liberty park.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

BUSINESS FOR NEWPORT BOAT BUILDERS GAINS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—Along with other lines of activity in this city, boat building is enjoying by far its greatest season, all the shops being run at full capacity trying to fill orders for new pleasure craft and rigging up the old boats for the rapidly approaching summer season. Boat-building has become an industry of considerable importance to the city and county, a survey here reveals.

The Crandall Boat company, which had a boat plant at Eagle River, Wis., for many years, and opened a California plant here a little more than a year ago, has sent craft from here to many parts of the compass in the last few months. One "Crandall-Craft" went to Sweden and several to parts of the United States outside of California.

Some of this concern's boats established records on the bay last summer, where many trials and races were held.

The Johnson Boat company, which specializes in snow-birds, is turning out more than ever before and according to indications the bay will be white with the sails of these little craft this summer.

The Douglas Boat and Canoe company, headed by Don Douglas, famed both as a builder and sailor, of sailing canoes and as an all-around amateur, is trying to keep up with the increasing demand for these sport craft.

At the plant of the Newport Boat Builders, builders and repairers of the larger pleasure craft, are many yachts and other pleasure boats being prepared for a season which will bring, among other events, to Newport bay, both the Pacific coast and Southern California yachting regatta, August 4 to 10.

Bob Zumfelde, among his other activities, has built a five-foot model of a new kind of four-masted ship. It is on view at his plant at the foot of Ninth street. He plans to build a 30-foot ship of this class.

Kiwanis Club In Buena Park Told Island's History

BUENA PARK, April 16.—John McBride Robertson, Buena Park rural mail carrier gave an interesting talk on "The Natural History of the Hawaiian Islands," at the Buena Park Kiwanis club meeting Tuesday evening. Leon T. Wilsey was program chairman.

Two new members, W. H. Whitmore, jeweler, and W. D. Cannon, grocer, were welcomed. The meeting was in charge of Vice President Henry Warren, who presided in the absence of the president, Arthur F. Corey. Ralph N. Cummins will be program chairman April 22.

GAIN RECORDED BY LIBRARY IN THREE MONTHS

COSTA MESA, April 16.—The Costa Mesa library has made gains in book loans during the past three months. An increase of over 900 books loaned was recorded.

Children are using the books in increasing numbers and many new books have been added that are particularly helpful in their school work.

New books recently added, dealing with aeronautic subjects, seem to be the most popular.

Some fiction and also non-fiction that pupils have asked for are now on the shelves.

FRUIT INDUSTRY HISTORY CITED IN LIONS TALK

FULLERTON, April 16.—Development of co-operative marketing and interesting figures on the growth of the citrus industry in California were told to members of the Fullerton Lions club at noon yesterday in Ryan's cafe by Dale R. King, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange.

Returns of approximately $10,000,000 were realized by growers in northern Orange county last year, King stated, culminating various stages of the growth of the industry since its origin. Some 7600 cars were shipped from this district last year.

The history of the citrus industry from 1178, the date of the first production in China, to 1894, when small acreage for use at the San Gabriel mission was planted, was traced by King, who told of the many difficulties and problems encountered by the growers and the steady development of various methods which have been used to combat the pests which are prevalent.

The state of California at the present time has more than 375,000 acres of citrus trees, extending from Tehama county to San Diego county, which last year produced 88,000 carloads of fruit, returning a revenue of $140,000,000 to growers in that section, King declared.

Development of the methods of co-operative marketing was told by King, who pointed out the ways in which the selling and handling of fruit has steadily been made more efficient until at the present time, the highest possible returns to the growers are made possible by the efficient manner of sale.

principal speaker, Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor and member of the agricultural staff of the University of California. Wahlberg will give an illustrated lecture on "The Present Status of the Valencia Industry." This will be the farm advisor's last appearance for some time in Capistrano as he is leaving May 1 for Russia and the Mediterranean countries.

NOW, the CRANE BUDGET PLAN

brings modern plumbing and heating to all—

This bathroom embodies the beauty and comfort that modern families demand. The Ipswich lavatory, Corwith bath, Santon closet, can be had in white or color, with any fittings you desire. Completely installed, only 10% down.

Haven't you often wished for some of the many beautiful and convenient improvements now offered in plumbing and heating? Haven't you thought how much pleasanter to live in, how much easier to sell or rent, they would make your house?

Now you can have them. Crane Co. announces its new Budget Plan, to give them with only a trifling outlay of capital.

Pay Nothing Until Everything is Installed

You get the improvements, fully installed, before you pay a cent. Then you pay only 10 per cent down, the rest in small monthly payments. The Plan is simplicity itself. Call in the Crane Qualified Contractor-Dealer near you. Tell him what you want done to modernize your home or any other building.

He will show you how easily you can afford to do it now, without bother or red tape. He will install the materials you select and take care of all financing details.

Remember that all materials will be of recognized Crane quality, backed by a 75 year reputation. Remember that they will increase the value of your property by every penny they cost . . . in many cases by two or three times their cost.

Why not consult a Crane Qualified Contractor-Dealer at once?

Visit the nearby Crane Exhibit Rooms and inspect the latest fixtures. Write for this book. It shows a cross-section of the complete Crane line, with valuable information on planning. Every article in it sold on monthly payments.

CHICAGO B.D. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, April 16.—(UP)—Wheat closed sharply higher on the Board of Trade today when reports from Oklahoma and Kansas stated that the rains had been insufficient over a large area of the best wheat lands. Higher foreign cables and buying by commission houses with eastern connections were instrumental in the rise. Weather conditions were reported clearing in the southwest. The market remained nervous to the end, fearing a repetition of the closing slump of yesterday. Corn and oats were strong with wheat. At the close wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2c higher, corn was 1 to 1 1/2c higher and oats were 1 1/2 to 2c higher. Provisions were strong to 10 points higher.

WHAT WILL THEY DO ABOUT IT?

Last September we presented evidence before the Board of Supervisors that the Court Interpreter employed by the Board was issuing to Mexicans permits to drive automobiles without a traffic officer being present, without being deputized to do so, and charging the Mexicans for the service or alleged service. In court yesterday, Mr. Carrillo admitted that there were some 1200 to 1500 of these, 80 per cent of whom paid. English-speaking people can receive their examinations without expense.

There was also evidence placed before the Board that this man had received money for either getting or pretending to have gotten an opportunity for a man to visit his wife in jail, and other evidence that he had received money for getting people out of jail. In fact, he admitted in the trial yesterday that he had negotiated for a certain amount to try and get some of the people out of jail.

The case of libel against The Register by this Court Interpreter was thrown out of court by the judge because the accuracy of the accounts in the paper as to what had been brought out before the Board of Supervisors had not been disproven and because there was no malice shown.

On the other hand, the defense was prepared with forty Mexican witnesses to maintain the truth of all of the charges that were presented to the Board of Supervisors, and more, but in view of the fact that there was no case made by the plaintiff, it never reached the opportunity for the defendant to present his evidence before the court.

However, the question is not The Register, it is the question of whether these facts be true, and we want to say to the Board of Supervisors that a number of the things were never denied, and there are approximately forty witnesses whose addresses we have, who will testify as to the truth of the charges that we made against this interpreter. If they desire any additional evidence they can easily obtain these addresses.

Will they do it?

The Mexicans have no votes. They are the poorest and weakest part of our population. They are our wards; if anything, a higher obligation rests upon our representatives to look after their interests than the interests of those of us who are stronger and able to look after our own. The Mexicans should know that American institutions stand for justice being neither purchasable, delayed nor denied, either on account of financial or other weakness of any one; that there are certain privileges that people enjoy in our democracy that you do not have to pay officials for; that the officials are paid by taxpayers for such services.

The one who comes in contact with them and in his own official or quasi-official relationship should be of the highest type, for it is a continuous lesson in Americanization and civil government which they are receiving. The Mexican clergymen of our city and county, who are coming in contact with these people, feel it deeply. Some of the social workers, who come in contact with them, feel it equally as keenly.

What is the Board of Supervisors going to do about it?

It is now placed squarely before them, as it was last September, except for the fact that there is probably three or four times as much evidence available as there was at that time. Certainly they cannot claim that they must keep this man now "for the good of the Mexicans!"

Add industrial depressions: Just at a time when a razor manufacturer launches a $10,000,000 campaign on a new razor, a fashion note announces that beards are coming back into fashion.

THE PASSING OF THE MELTING POT

For many years the United States was known as the melting pot of the world. Here the peoples of the world were welcome. Vast domains were unsettled. "The Covered Wagon" carried not only the pioneers from Holland, from Germany and from Scandinavia. Later the country began to develop industrially. The natives did not take kindly to the rougher work of industrialism. The earlier immigrant was too ambitious to be confined within the four walls of a great factory. So with the development of industry new sources of population had to be tapped.

Yet, we were not afraid. The popular lecturer spoke of the contribution the new immigrant was to make to our national life. He was to bring thrift, ambition, color, music, art and much more. American life was too drab, too prosaic, too materialistic, we were told. Here was an incoming strain which was to modify it for the better. The immigrant was looked upon sympathetically. We tried to get behind his crude manners, his strange customs, his odd dress, and his unintelligible language, and we found there a man with the same hopes and aspirations, the same sensitiveness to the forces that move around us all. They were called, "pilgrims who had come over in a later boat." The foreigner was really romantic, whether he was Jew, Italian, Pole, Hungarian or most anything else. Robert Haven Shaftler idealized him in his quotable poem, "The Scum of the Earth." Israel Zangwell made him of heroic size and model in "The Melting Pot." Professor Steiner, who had crossed the sea with him in the steerage and knew him in his native habitat, was one of our most popular platform lecturers when he pictured the romance of the immigrant, no matter where he came from.

Then came the war with its fanning of national and racial hatreds. Many of these immigrants, and even their children and grandchildren, began to be looked upon as inimical and dangerous to our traditions and our ideals. So-called Red raids, the most cruel offense ever perpetrated upon many guileless and unoffending people by a civilized government, became general. The bars to immigration were fixed at all our ports of entry. The foreigner was no longer romantic. America ceased to be the melting pot.

We hold no brief for unrestricted immigration. The chaotic way in which these multitudes were dumped upon our shores without any provision or direction was unjust to them and it was not wholesome for our society. It would have been better all around had we developed more slowly, and had it been possible to absorb into our social and political life these heterogeneous peoples more gradually. But all this should not change our attitude toward those who have sought our shores for the same reason that sent our earliest settlers. Trying to Americanize them by teaching them to despise their heritage as so many would do, is a great injustice, nor is it possible. We might as well expect an American living in Rome to despise his American heritage.

The foreigner is here. We have to live with him.

By the time the news is circulated that a pianist in Yugoslavia set a record of 85 hours of continuous playing, his neighbors may have made of him a harp player.

EASTER

Easter comes somewhat late this year but loses none of its significance. Spring flowers will be opened a little wider and spring clothes will be a little more appropriate. Easter services will be more closely allied to the divine ideal of rising life and growth.

The fact that Easter has a religious background and especially that this background is that of Christianity assures perpetuation of itself as a day of contemplation of the spirit. With this is the awakening of minds and hearts to the necessity of renewing kinship with ideas reaching above materiality.

The churches of this community and vicinity are to be congratulated upon the fine spirit they are showing in the preparation of suitable Easter service programs. Many persons will attend these services who are not in the habit of attending church during any other service of the year. This fact alone is worth the while in making the programs interesting and impressive.

The Bennett Charge

Vallejo Evening Chronicle

One somehow experiences a loss of dignity in even noticing the so-called "Bennett" charge that a $250,000 donation was paid in the 1926 Young campaign fund in consideration of the appointment of Mr. Friedlander as corporation commissioner. And yet the charge was made. And a charge affecting the administration of the state's highest office demands comment.

Our reaction at this particular moment is sheer disgust.

That a self-confessed criminal, a man of ill repute and several aliases, temporarily enjoying immunity from prosecution because of his witness value, can tell this story and find any to believe, were cause for wonder. That such a character can impeach the honor of a man of Governor Young's reputation, where life is an open book and whose record for integrity and unselfish public service is known to all Californians—and find even one believer—were beyond understanding.

Most astonishing of all perhaps, is the conviction that some one, somewhere, must have been convinced that there existed potential voters who would be influenced by such a charge, and, because of this, deemed it good political ammunition for the campaign in which the Governor, in all probability, will seek re-election. We do not know which most deserves contempt, the low type of mentality which conceived the idea, or the school of politics which deemed it effective.

There are one or two circumstances attending the making of the charge which are, to say the least, peculiar. It was made in the office of the district attorney who is himself a candidate for the governorship. The charge was given publicity by the office of that district attorney. None knew, better than the district attorney, the character of the maker of the charge—since, as district attorney, he handled the unsavory case which established Bennett's status as briber and jury "fixer." None, better than that same district attorney, knew Governor Young's character—since, as Lieutenant Governor, he was for a time a trusted member of the Governor's official family.

Aside from this we have no comment to make. As between Bennett or Berman or whatever name he may now affect, and Governor C. C. Young, the public can have little difficulty in deciding whom to believe.

Truly a flea can bite an elephant. Frequently, however, the elephant never knows he is bitten. But the flea—he knows.

Amusing Oneself On Highway to Success

San Francisco Chronicle

Writing in the Yale News, Florenz Ziegfeld says that the most important thing for college students is to learn to amuse themselves. The advice is meant less flippantly than it sounds coming from that eminent authority on amusement. For frivolity is not necessarily an ingredient of the Ziegfeld prescription for students, whatever may be the theatrical menu for tired business men.

It is a notable fact that few men make brilliant successes in pursuits they regard as monotonous. The lawyer who finds the law a bore is likely to bore judges and juries; the physician who lacks interest in the healing arts is wasting his life. From this angle it appears wise that the student either find ways of making his pursuits amusing or of finding some pursuits that will keep him amused.

No doubt Mr. Ziegfeld has his own career in mind when he advises the students. He has been highly successful in his chosen pursuit so he must have been amused by it. Possibly his sympathy has been touched by the forlorn fate of those who have so little resource within themselves that they pay high prices for the privilege of standing on the side lines while Mr. Ziegfeld has a good time.

A TRIBUTE

It is now contended that the Indian medicine man's knowledge of curative herbs was wide and accurate

Though the Red Man was clever at whittling a bow
And tipping an arrow with barbs
It was commonly thought, till a few months ago,
That he knew simply nothing of yarbs.
We fancied his numbers were few in the land,
Which the white man at last overran,
Because of the nostrums he took from the hand
Of the ignorant medicine man.

Our scientists said that no half-naked Cree
Or Seminole, Bannock or Sioux,
Untaught in the chemical art, could foresee
What a kettle-boiled dosage could do.
They scoffed at the settlers for taking the stuff
For colic or pains in the back;
They said that the redskin was worse than a bluff,
In truth a most dangerous quack.

But now we're informed that the Indian possessed
A strange and intuitive knowledge
Of the pharmacists' lore that would pass any test
Imposed by a medical college.
How they knew that some weed would cure this ill or that
Is a secret that still remains hid;
They seem much too dense to have healing down pat
And yet it appears that they did.

We frequently sneer as we think of poor Le;
We say, with a smile of disdain,
That though he was crafty, as savages go,
He didn't have much of a brain.
And yet for long ages he prospered and thrived
And yet he was wise to forget
That, were he armed with guns when the white man
Arrived,
He might own America yet.

"Now It Toucheth Thee"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"You say poverty some day will be abolished!" exclaimed the Doubter. "Nonsense. You might as well say—er—you might as well say—"

For all we know, he is still struggling for a simile to express his scorn.

Twenty years ago, how easy it would have been! Think of what he could have said then: "Yeah, when I can fly to Europe!" Or—"Huh! Sure it will, when I can turn a button and hear the King of England make a speech."

But what can a man fall back on these days to express scepticism of new ideas? Perhaps the safest solution is to park scepticism in the attic, and not try to express it at all.

Poverty is doomed because it has worn out its welcome. Nobody ever wanted it for himself. Now nobody wants it even for the other fellow.

Employers once accepted, without question, the dictum that "the great mass of wage-earners can never rise far above the lowest level of subsistence." This they supposed was hard luck for "the great mass of wage-earners."

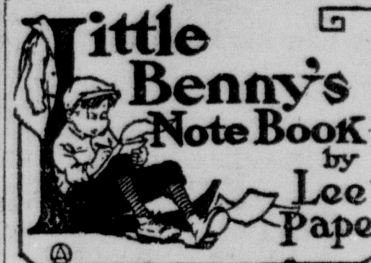

But gradually it dawned on them that low wages are hard luck, not only for the workers who get them, but for the industries which pay them.

Lay off a wage-earner and a customer takes the count. Nothing but wages will revive him. So thoroughly has industry learned this lesson, that when a business recession threatened last fall, the Washington Conferences all began and ended with one slogan: "Wages must not be reduced."

Wage-earners manifestly must rise several notches above "the lowest level of subsistence" in order to be likely prospects for radios, automobiles, and silk stockings. Employers who manufacture these articles, and a thousand and one others, did a little intensive thinking about wages. The lowest level of subsistence theory rapidly lost its glamor.

In the words of Job's friend: "Now it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled."

Pop was smoking to himself and all of a sudden I saw a nickel on the floor under his chair, and I sed, Hay pop?

Do I heer the nightingale calling? pop sed.

Meaning what did I want, and I sed, Sipping I found a dime somewhere.

You'd be doing better than I ever did, I dont bleeve I've ever found a cent in my life, pop sed. Other people are always managing to find money, but the best I can do along that line is lose it, he sed.

Me thinking, Heck, what did he saff to think og that for? And I sed, Well suppose I did find one, and nobody advertized in the paper for it, would I be aloud to keep it according to law?

According to law, perhaps, but not according to your consents unless you first did everything in your power to discover the identity of the ritful owner, pop sed, and I sed, Well, G, pop, a person cant spend all their life trying to fine out who lost a dime, can they?

Well, no, such a life could hardly be called well spent, pop sed. But we'll say you could devote a reasonable portion of your life to the quest, perhaps a half hour or so, he sed. Where did you find this dime? he sed.

I didnt axually find a dime, I sed.

Well then yee gods, whats all the shooting for? pop sed, and I sed, I found a nickel.

Well, the principal is the same, or rather I should say the intrist is the same even though in this case the principal is cut in half, pop sed. Where did you find this nickel? he sed, and I sed, Under your chair.

Hand it over, pop sed, and I sed, I havent picked it up yet.

Meaning it was still there, and pop reetched down and picked it up, saying, Have you any other little questions this evening? and I sed, No sir.

Wich I didnt.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

REFORMING THE RADIO

We can tell the way of the wind by the drift of the straw. I read many ponderous volumes of speculation about the future of our civilization. I propose a similar test. The future of Western civilization may well be guessed by what Western man does with his radio.

"You think your souls are saved," Gandhi once said to a Westerner, "because you can invent a radio, but of what elevation to man is a method of broadcasting when you have only driven to send out?"

Science and invention approached a significant digestive period in which, if humanity is wise, the nutritive results of the investigative and inventive genius of the last hundred years will be transformed into the rich and sustaining life-blood of a new and better civilization.

Our greatest test will be this—will our supply of statesmen be equal to our supply of inventors?

Will we—to speak in the concrete—be able to bring to the use of the radio an insight equal to the inventiveness that created the radio?

For the last hour I turned here and there on the dial of my son's radio in frantic but futile flight from incredibly bad speech and insistent hawking of this and that merchandise.

Even now a great symphony or a gifted voice slips slyly in between the raucous crying of wares, but by and large we have not begun to live up to the heritage of the radio.

Here is a great tool of civilization going relatively to waste.

I am skeptical of any attempt to put the radio under any sweeping governmental control, but, if it is to do more than debauch our speech and make us a nation of listeners-in on triviality, there must, some day, come a unification of our radio interests.

The financing of programs must be emancipated from dependence upon advertising schemes. The receiving set must, I suspect, be licensed at a small sum that will, in total, amply finance the programs of our great broadcasting centers. The nation's genius for educational, artistic, and social statesmanship must be placed in control of programs. Daily a whole people might be schooled in the flawless use of its mother tongue.

Ultimately when the radio brings the whole world to our ears, we shall be able to master many languages more easily and more effectively than we now learn them in the laborious ways of the class room.

The ghosts of the great inventors are forever looking wistfully down, wondering when we shall make full use of the tools of civilization they have given us.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SUMMER CAMP

The summer months should not be wasted. The child who has attended school for ten months needs a change of work, not a period of idleness. Idleness is unhealthy. The natural state of childhood is activity. Growth is constant although it is rhythmic—now slow, now fast and furious, now dying down to a steady glowing interest. But at rest? No.

The most earnest child needs change of work. A steady diet of history, geography, arithmetic, grammar and spelling will not nourish body and mind richly. There must be variety, change, strangeness, new efforts at adjustments, to create rare growth. And rare growth is what we need in our children. Stodgy, dead-level progress is not enough.

A child who has the freedom of the woods, the hills, the waters and meadows has an opportunity for a rarer, finer growth than has the child whose environment is the city's busy streets and the city's busy industries. We came from the open places so short a time ago that there is in each of us, and very strongly in all children, the deep desire for contacts with nature. There is always a tiny core in the depth of each spirit that is homesick for the earth, our mother.

You cannot plot and measure and percent the value of freedom in the open. Fortunately they escape the measuring scale. All we can say is that when we dwell upon the mountain top we found it very good. We have no words to tell the experience of the spirit. Yet that the experience is rich and valuable beyond all price, there is never a hint of doubt.

Just to lie on a meadow flooded with sunshine, the air perfumed with sweet clover; to lie on the mountain top while breezes laden with the breath of sweet fern stir your hair; to lie on the sand by the shore of the lake and listen to the voices of wind and water and vagrant bird. Just to be there is enough.

To follow your nose along a wood's trail. To sniff leaf mold, and damp leaves fallen on springy earth; to catch the odor of balsam in the sun; to scent the cool hemlocks in the dip of the hill and then the sweet breath of young birch. Every breath is deep laden with joy.

One does not need to find a continent to know the breathless delight of discovery. Once I stepped off a beaten brown trail into a bit of open sunny woods and came upon a yellow moccasin flower in full bloom. I would not trade that moment of ecstasy, brown earth, green buds, bright blue sky and exquisite bloom, for any royal decoration a monarch ever offered.

Money cannot buy this inner beauty. Each wins it for himself from a world of living things in earth and sky and sea. We can give some of the children an opportunity to capture a little of it by letting them go to a good summer camp. And some day, when we have grown wiser in our thought about educating children, we will see that all children have this opportunity of meeting the spirit of beauty, in the woods and mountains of our country.

We have so much and we do so little with it all. Begin this summer to open this nature book for the children if you have never done it before.

WILBUR WRIGHT'S BIRTH

On April 16, 1867, Wilbur Wright, American pioneer in aviation, was born near Millville, Ind.

After a high school education, he went with his brother Orville to Dayton, O., where they opened up a bicycle repair shop. With the experience they received from motorcycles they began experimenting with gliding machines. In order that they might carry on their work unmolested, the brothers moved to Kitty Hawk, N. C.

On December 17, 1903, one of their machines rose of its own power, remained in the air 59 seconds, and carried the operator 852 feet. This was the first instance of actual mechanical flight. Two years later the Wrights built an airplane in which they flew 24 1-2 miles.

But in 1908, Wilbur Wright set a record in France for the longest flight ever made up to that time when he covered 56 miles. For this achievement he was awarded the Michelin prize. The French patent

OLD STUFF TO HIM

HER FATHER: Can you give my daughter the luxuries to which she has been accustomed?
YOUTH: Not much longer. That's why I want to get married.—Hummel, Hamburg.

ASKING TOO MUCH

"A fine secretary you are; Can't you find any work to do?"
"You can't expect me to find work and do it, too, do you?"—The Humorist.
